CHARLES BURT, UNDER ARREST, IS INNOCENT

Man Detectives Believe Guilty of Achsa King's Murder.

FAR AWAY FROM SCENE AT TIME

His Companions Will Be Able to Prove a Complete Alibi for Him.

BODY OF THE VICTIM WAS LAID TO REST

In spite of the fact that the police and detectives were in William Curran's saloon at Sixth and Wylie avenues, five minutes after Achsa King was murdered, the only person they have been able to arrest as the murderer was Charles Burt, who was employed as a helper on an ice wagon of the Citizens Ice Company at Second and Liberty avenues, who was, as a matter of fact, a mile away from the scene of the tragedy at the time it occurred. Yesterday morning Detectives George Waggoner and Albert Swineheart went to the ice plant in Liberty avenue and arrested Burt while he was at work. He was taken to the police station and cast into a cell and retained there under suspicion of a foul crime, when, as facts point, he had no more to do with it than the detectives themselves. The detectives kept this man's name a secret during the day, and declared they had the right man locked up for murdering Achsa King.

It is self-evident that they have not taken the trouble to look after Burt's movements and are merely trying to "sweat" him and save work.

A Gazette reporter made a tour among the ice companies of this city yesterday and learned the name of the prisoner under suspicion for the murder. He had formerly been employed by the Consolidated Ice Company as a laborer about the plant at Thirteenth and Pike streets. They say that he is about 30 years old and a quiet-mannered fellow.

Evidence Slight.

The evidence against Burt was most flimsy. He has been employed as a helper on an ice wagon. He covers the route out to Sixteenth street and Liberty avenue. For the past two weeks he has been working with Driver William Massie. On Wednesday he was at work during the entire afternoon and was with Driver Massie. They left the neighborhood of Sixteenth and Liberty avenue at about 5:30 o'clock. These men were together on the wagon from the time they left this section of their route until they arrived at Second and Liberty avenues shortly before 5 o'clock.

At 5:10, the hour of the murder, Burt was helping his partner unhitching and cleaning the horses. William Massie and five other employes of the Citizens Ice Company told this to the reporter last night.

William J. McCutcheon of McCutcheon Bros., of No. 4 Madison avenue, said that he saw him arrive at the plant at 5 o'clock and work until long after that hour. Night Watchman John Wills, H. Bernard and William Hill all saw Burt there at that hour.

Was Not Burt.

Burt was arrested on the statement of Mrs. A. K. Acheson of No. 3821 Butler street. She has a small store at this place but lives at No. 3810 Butler street. On the afternoon of the murder she said that Achsa King came to her house at No. 3810 with a rough-looking man, who was slightly under the influence of liquor. She said that he made the remark that he was an ice wagon driver and that he was to draw $45 in the morning and would spend it on the King woman.

She said that they arrived there about 3 o'clock and remained there for half an hour. She said last night that he was not in his working clothes and that he told her he had not been working for several days. The reporter asked her if there was any evidence that he had been handling ice that day. She thought not, as his shoes were new and his clothes were dry. In addition to this there was not a particle of sawdust on his person.

Name Was Fulton.

Mrs. Acheson was introduced to him, and to the best of her recollection it was Burt Fulton. It is presumed by the detectives that Achsa King and her companion went directly from this place to the saloon in which the tragedy occurred. From the time they left the Acheson home and the time they arrived at the saloon it was two hours and twenty minutes. This distance can be made in the cars in 25 minutes.

Mrs. Acheson says they got on the cars. It is evident they did not go directly to Curran's saloon. During this time Burt was dripping with perspiration and covered with sawdust from handling ice. William Massie, the driver whom he assisted, says so. They left the neighborhood of Sixteenth and Liberty streets about 3:30 o'clock. This is just 22 squares from Mrs. Acheson's residence, where the King woman and her companion departed.

Driver Massie says that Burt was with him all that time. They drove along their route until they reached the stables, a few minutes before 5 o'clock. Here Burt assisted him to unhitch the horses and clean them. Then he went to his lodging house in Second avenue.

Miss Achsa King was interred in the West Newton cemetery at 11 a. m. None but a few near relatives of the dead woman, brothers and sisters, were present. The body was taken to West Newton on a Pittsburgh & Lake Erie train and was carried to the cemetery by the brothers of the dead woman. A brief service was conducted by the Rev. G. W. Byrnes of the Church of God, West Newton.

CHIEF ENGINEER SAYS OPEN LAMP FIRED THE DAMP

Marshall G. Moore Very Positive in Theory of the Explosion.

HE THINKS DANGERS CAN'T BE ELIMINATED

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Johnstown, Pa., July 25.—Chief James E. Roderick of the state bureau of mines asked Marshall G. Moore, chief mining engineer of the Cambria Steel Company, at this afternoon's session of the inquest into the Rolling Mill mine disaster: "Have you a theory as to the cause of the explosion?"

Said Mr. Moore: "My theory is that someone on the sixth heading side of the fall lit the gas. The man must have had a naked lamp. I believed the men in No. 2 room of the sixth right were working with naked lamps. The safety lamps I picked up in the heading were not blown where I found them by the force of the explosion. It is my belief they were placed there before the explosion by the men. I believe the gas on the fall was not at its highest explosive point, by any means. It may have had a large excess of air, or the amount of air may have been lower. That would account for the large volume of carbonic oxide gas that suffocated the men so quickly. In all my explorations of the mine, I did not find a bit of carbonic oxide gas."

The Men Changed Lamps.

One important thing Mr. Moore said about these lamps was that both were covered with a thin coating of dust. Mr. Moore noticed this in particular, he said, his attention to it having been attracted by the reflection of his own lamp in the glass of one of the others. He tried one of them and found it locked, but the other he did not try. Both were in good condition, and this fact, together with the fact that they were covered with dust, leads the mining engineer to believe that they were set down in the room by the men who carried them there, who then lighted their open lamps and worked by them.

This morning the most important witness was George T. Robinson, superintendent of the mines. Mr. Moore was by far the most important official called this afternoon. With Mr. Moore, the Cambria mining officials are through with their testimony.

Inspector Roby asked Mr. Moore if he thought it was good policy to use both safety and open lamps in a gaseous mine, and the mining engineer replied he thought it was, because there are dangers in the mine that cannot be seen with a safety lamp, while with an open lamp a miner is able to see them. By these dangers he meant the condition of the roof and walls, saying that with a safety lamp the miner cannot see the roof of his room.

Miners Can't Be Searched.

"But can such dangers be eliminated?" asked Roby.

"I don't think it possible to eliminate these dangers," said Mr. Moore. "We can't make sure that the men do not carry matches, open lamps or pipes with them into dangerous sections of the mine without searching them if safety lamps were to be used exclusively. The men will not stand for such a thing, although I am told that in some parts of England and Wales the miners are stripped and made to walk from one room to another naked to be sure they are not taking such things into their rooms. We can't do that in this country," was Mr. Moore's answer.

Mr. Robinson, on the stand this morning, said he made trips through and inspected the mine at irregular intervals, sometimes two or three days in succession, and again not for a week. He said Inspector Evans made frequent trips into the mine, visiting it every two or three months. Robinson said he considered the condition of the mine now very good.

Inspector Ross asked Mr. Robinson how much gas he considered dangerous, and the superintendent replied he thought any quantity of gas, large or small, dangerous and to be avoided.

Mr. Robinson praised John Retallick, the last one of the victims to die, saying he was a very careful fire boss and a gas expert. The condition of his district had to be superlatively good, Supt. Robinson said, before Retallick would report it "good."

King Enjoys a Cruise.

LONDON, July 25.—This was the first bright day since King Edward's arrival at Cowes, Isle of Wight, and his majesty enjoyed the sunshine on deck. The king had a smooth cruise around the Isle of Wight, returning to Cowes this evening.

LAST MURDERER MAY BE CORNERED

During the Day Mob Shot an Innocent Colored South African--Blacks Are Preparing for a Bloody War.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Elkins, W. Va., July 25.—Exciting developments are following thick and fast upon the murder of Chief of Police Wilmoth of Womelsdorf and the fearful avenging of his death by the lynching early yesterday morning of two negroes.

Searching parties are scouring the country for Henry Lancaster. He was seen at Valley Bend, 18 miles south, this morning, where he entered a store and at the point of a pistol made the clerk furnish him with rations enough for several days. Protected by his pointed gun, Lancaster disappeared into the mountains. He admitted his identity and says he will not be taken alive.

Deputy Sheriffs C. M. Marstiller and Thad Pritt, with large posses and bloodhounds, are searching the mountains about Valley Bend and Huttonsville. A report received from there at 10 o'clock says that Lancaster has been surrounded by a mob of local woodsmen, who expect to lynch him as soon as he can be taken from his hiding place. This report cannot be verified, as telephone offices in this section close at 10 o'clock.

Late this afternoon Peter Jackson, a negro who was in Womelsdorf at the time of the murder, but since, being driven out of the town, has been employed by the Junior Coal Company at Harding, was mistaken for Henry Lancaster, the murderer, who is yet at large, and shot, perhaps fatally. Jackson recently arrived from South Africa and can understand hardly a word of English. His clothes had been sent down from Womelsdorf to Roaring Creek Junction today, and he had gone there for them, when a mob of armed citizens, mistaking him for Lancaster, gave chase and called upon him to halt.

Not understanding their meaning, Jackson broke and ran, followed by dozens of shots from the guns of his pursuers. He escaped into a small thicket of laurel, which was surrounded by the mob, who quietly awaited his coming out. Jackson made a second dash for liberty and was followed by a volley of shots, two of which struck him, felling him to ground.

Upon picking up the wounded man it was found that he was not Lancaster, but an inoffensive and well-behaved negro, whonumbers among his friends many of the white citizens of the community. Many negroes are employed in the mines and upon the railway construction in that vicinity, and upon learning of the uncalled-for shooting of their comrade swore vengeance upon the mob which did it, the most of whom are known.

Early in the night a telephone message from A. C. Finley, superintendent of the mines, said he feared the worst, as there is every evidence on the part of the negroes of preparations for a race war. The feeling against the whites is even more bitter than that of the whites against the negroes, if possible, and the members of the mob which shot Jackson are preparing to defend themselves against any outbreak.

The remains of Capt. Wilmoth were buried this afternoon at Maplewood cemetery, Elkins.

CUMBERLAND, MD., July 25.—(Special.)—Two wood choppers arrived here today from West Virginia. They said the third negro accused of being implicated in the murder of Policeman Wilmoth has been lynched.

They said they were at work 26 miles south of Belington late yesterday afternoon, when the negro who was wounded in the arm by the same bullet that killed Wilmoth passed along a path where they were at work. Shortly afterward about 35 armed men came along and hurried in the direction the negro had taken.

The woodmen say that not long after they heard at least 100 shots fired, after which numbers of the posse, returning by the same route, told them they had riddled the negro with bullets and thrown his body into Blackwater creek.

The woodmen knew nothing about the correctness of the lynching story.

MUCH DAMAGE BY STORM.

Buildings Are Destroyed and Crops Devastated in Large Section of Country.

M'DONALD, PA., July 25.—(Special.)—A severe electrical, hail and wind storm last night wrought considerable damage to telephone and telegraph wires. Farmers report much damage to crops and fences. Lightning struck the brick store of A. Valentour, and damage to the extent of $200 was done.

IRWIN, PA., July 25.—(Special.)—Farmers of North Huntington township who were in range of last evening's storm estimate their loss at $50,000. Some of the farmers will tomorrow start cutting oats and corn for fodder. Westmoreland shaft is filled with 10 feet of water.

EMLENTON, PA., July 25.—(Special.)—During a terrific electrical storm this morning the residence of Frank White, near St. Petersburg, was struck by lightning and destroyed. Mr. and Mrs. White were found unconscious on the floor, half suffocated by smoke and were rescued with difficulty. The loss is $3,000, partly insured. Alonzo Graham, aged 22, while working on an oil well on Bully Hill, Sandycreek township, was struck by lightning and badly injured.

CORRY, PA., July 25.—(Special.)—A hailstorm did thousands of dollars damage in this section last night, large crops being destroyed.

STRIKE LEADER PLEADS GUILTY

Order for the Arrest of National Secretary W. B. Wilson for Contempt Is Rescinded. Habeas Corpus Will Be Tried.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Parkersburg, W. Va., July 25.—John L. Gehr of Colorado, the last of the strike leaders under arrest for contempt of court, was on trial all day. He refused to offer testimony in his own behalf, but attempted to argue the case. The court refused to allow him to proceed along the lines he wished, and he thereupon pleaded guilty. His case was then continued until tomorrow. Eleven others, under a charge of contempt, were released upon their own recognizance and their promise not again to take part in anything which might look like violation of injunctions.

"Mother" Jones says she will not stop her work among West Virginia miners, but will try to observe the law. National Vice President Lewis of the United Mine Workers of America is now in charge in West Virginia.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., July 25.—W. B. Wilson, secretary and treasurer of the United Mine Workers, today received a communication from his attorney at Parkersburg, W. Va., saying that the warrant for his arrest on a charge of violating an injunction issued by Judge Jackson has been rescinded. Mr. Wilson says he believed this was done to avoid further exciting the miners.

Judge Jackson's decision will not keep the organization from continuing its work, Wilson said. He declared the authorities might as well begin to enlarge their jails if the injunction is to be enforced.

This morning a check for $1,025 was received for the strike fund from Fontanet, a little mining settlement near Terre Haute. A Chicago man, who desired his name to be withheld, sent a check for $1,000. Many donations of this nature are being received.

WILKESBARRE, PA., July 25.—President Mitchell returned to strike headquarters in this city this evening. In West Virginia, President Mitchell said, the courts would be appealed to through habeas corpus to secure the release of organizers sentenced for contempt. If that fails the higher authorities will be asked to pardon the men.

PHILADELPHIA, July 25.—A conference took place today between President Baer of the Reading and Jersey Central; R. C. Luther, general superintendent of the Philadelphia & Reading Coal & Iron Company, and William J. Richards, general superintendent of the Lehigh & Wilkesbarre Coal Company, which is controlled by the Central Railroad of New Jersey. None of them would give out any information, but the impression prevails that plans are under way to start a number of collieries.

MAY BE MURDER.

Angry Fireman at Eliza Furnaces Stabbed Man Who Taunted Him About His Work.

There was a stabbing affray at the Eliza furnaces of Jones & Laughlins, limited, in Second avenue, near Greenfield, last night which will probable prove a murder. Michael Keefe, 40 years old, a water tender at the furnaces, was stabbed in the left side, a few inches above the heart, during an altercation with John O'Connell, a fireman at the furnaces. The weapon used was an ordinary penknife and the blade severed a main artery leading to the heart and also penetrated the lung. Keefe is at the Mercy hospital, where early this morning he was reported to be in a serious condition.

The stabbing is said to have been the outcome of trouble the men have been having for some time past. After the stabbing O'Connell made no effort to escape and was arrested in the mill yard a few minutes after the crime was committed and sent to the Hazelwood police station.

Last evening about 7 o'clock the workmen about the furnaces say Keefe, who was considerably under the influence of liquor, entered the boiler room and began to abuse O'Connell for the manner in which he was shoveling coal into the furnaces. O'Connell is said to have paid no attention to Keefe and thereupon the latter began to call him vile names. O'Connell then warned Keefe to have a care, but instead Keefe picked up a piece of wood and approached O'Connell in a threatening manner.

Before anyone about was aware what was taking place O'Connell drew a penknife, and, as Keefe advanced to close with O'Connell, the latter plunged the knife into the breast of Keefe on the left side above the heart. Keefe fell to the floor with blood spurting from the wound. He was almost immediately surrounded by a crowd of workmen and carried into the furnace office.

Dr. A. W. Wallis, the furnace surgeon, was hastily summoned and on seeing the dangerous nature of Keefe's wound ordered that he be taken to the Mercy hospital. The physicians have little hope for Keefe's life, owing to the loss of blood and the fact that his lung was penetrated by the blade of the knife. Keefe lives in Caroline street and O'Connell's home is in Gerard street. Both men are married and have families.

FITZSIMMONS KNOCKED OUT IN THE EIGHTH

Jeff Was Bleeding from Nose, Ear and Cheek When End Came.

WITH BLAND SMILE LOSER MEETS BLOW

WHOLE CROWD DAZED BY ITS SUDDENNESS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

San Francisco, July 25.—After fighting a battle of eight rounds that was fraught with brilliant and courageous work, Robert Fitzsimmons tonight forfeited his last claim upon the heavyweight championship. He was knocked to the floor by James Jeffries and counted out after he had so badly punished the champion that it was a foregone conclusion among the spectators that the Cornishman must win. Bleeding from a number of gashes in the face, apparently weakening, and clearly unable to cope with Fitzsimmons' superior skill, Jeffries delivered two lucky punches as Fitzsimmons paused in his fighting to speak to him, and turned the tide.

The battle was brief but noteworthy and will live in pugilistic history.

Fitzsimmons tried once to arise from the mat, but sank down again in helplessness and heard himself counted out where but a moment before he had apparently all the better of it.

Fought His Last Battle.

"I will never fight again," said the battle-scarred veteran of the ring when he had sufficiently recovered to talk. "The fight was won fairly and to the best man belongs the laurels."

"You are the most dangerous man alive," said Jeffries in return, "and I consider myself lucky to have won when I did."

Fitzsimmons had been fighting at a furious gait, cool and deliberate, and chopping the champion to pieces with the terrific rights and lefts that have made him famous.

It was the draught horse and the racer from the tap of the gong. When the men came together Fitzsimmons appeared rather worried, but upon the opening of the first round he assumed an air of absolute confidence and fought with the deliberation of the general that he is.

As early as the second round Fitz had Jeff bleeding profusely from mouth and nose. Again and again he landed on his bulky opponent, getting away in such a clever manner that brought down the house with cheers. It seemed, indeed, that Jeffries could scarcely weather the gale.

Then Comes the Fatal Eighth.

In the eighth round the end came, and under a series of hot exchanges Fitzsimmons paused with his guard down and spoke to the champion. The latter's reply consisted of the two terrific blows that brought back to him the fleeting championship and forever removed the veteran Fitzsimmons from the fistic arena.

Fitzsimmons took his defeat with amazing good cheer. He walked to the center of the ring, and raising his hand addressed the multitude, saying:

"The best man has won. Had I beaten Jeffries tonight I would have conceded him the championship and retired forever. I retire just the same now, but without having accomplished my ambition.

"I am satisfied."

After the fight Champion Jeffries was seen in his dressing room. He was jubilant over his success, despite the terrible scars of battle.

"Well, I have won just as I expected to," he said. "It was a fierce fight—the fiercest I ever had—but I won. Yes, I got a good beating, as far as the marks of battle count, but then I rather expected that. I knew Fitzsimmons had a cutting punch and would land at some time of the fight.

Says He Felt Strong.

"But the few marks and the loss of a little blood won't hurt a man. I took them and only waited for the opportunity to land my punch. I found out Fitz could not jar me even with his famous right. He cut me up, of course, but that did not hurt. I never was tired at any stage and was stronger than Fitz at all stages. You saw that he wore heavy bandages and it was these that cut me up. I wore no bandages.

"Fitz certainly is a wonder. He is the greatest fighter of his weight that ever lived. As old as he is, he is the shiftiest and cleverest, the hardest hitting man I ever met, and I want to give him credit, as I know all who saw it will, for the great fight he put up.

"I have no plans for the immediate future, as I have not thought of anything but this fight for some time, and won't do anything for a long period. I will take a rest after the long siege of hard training.

"I think Fitzsimmons can yet defeat any other man than myself."

Cheerful in the face of defeat and full of praise for his vanquisher, and writhing in agony on his couch, surrounded by a score of friends offering their consolations, Fitz, with short sentences, interspersed with groans, announced that he had fought his last battle.

Healthy Respect for Jeffries.

"I fought the best I could and the best man won," he said. "He is a great fighter and had I been awarded the decision tonight I would have turned around and given him the championship, for he is the only man in the world capable of defending it. The blows that put me out were a left short arm jolt under the ribs and a right to the jaw.

"After receiving the terrific body blow I knew I was gone and told Jeffries to keep away, but he was anxious to finish me and sent a right swing to my jaw. I fought in the way I did because both my hands were gone when I entered the ring. I injured them on Wednesday boxing with Hank Griffin. My right hand in particular was almost useless. I am confident now, even more so than ever, that in my first battle with Jeffries I was doped. His showing tonight proved to me conclusively that my defeat at his hands in our previous battle was unwarranted."

Asked why he did all the leading, Fitz indignantly denied the allegation and said that Jeffries did a great deal of the work, especially in the clinches and at close range.

Admits He Was Badly Hurt.

"He is as strong as an ox and his blows hurt me considerably, especially his terrific lefts to the body," said Fitz.

Asked in regard to his plans for the future, Bob facetiously remarked:

"I am going back to Bensonhurst and attend to the development of the youth of America and try to make them like me—a vigorous old man—past his fortieth year and as hale and as hearty as a man well within his thirties."

At this juncture Dr. L. C. Cox, who had been summoned to attend the fighter, commenced an examination of the defeated pugilist. After a careful examination the doctor announced that Fitz's ribs were not broken, but that his left side was badly bruised, the muscles being so constricted as to cause the Cornishman great difficulty in breathing. Clark Ball, Fitz's manager, expressed his opinion that Fitz was too confident.

FITZSIMMONS ALWAYS GIVES AWAY WEIGHT

Has Been Fighting Out of His Class Ever Since He Became Middleweight Champion.

Considering the fact that "Bob" Fitzsimmons has always given away many pounds to opponents since he entered the heavyweight division, his success in the roped arena has been marvelous. According to "Lanky Bob's" own statement, he has never weighed heavier than 165 pounds and has given away anywhere from 15 to 35 pounds.

Since he first put on the gloves in competition Fitzsimmons has fought more than 100 battles, suffering defeat in only three. One defeat, at the hands of Jim Hall, was questionable, another, by Sharkey, on a foul, and the other, by Jeffries, strictly on the merits.

Fitzsimmons, who was born in Cornwall, England, about 40 years ago, made his debut as a boxer when 20 years old. His early battles of importance were fought in Australia. His first fight in this country was with "Billy" McCarthy in San Francisco about 11 years ago. Fitzsimmons got a knockout victory in the ninth round. At that time Fitzsimmons was a middleweight.

A victory over Arthur Upham, which quickly followed, put Fitzsimmons in line for a fight with Jack Dempsey for the middleweight championship of the world. The bout took place in the arena of the Olympic Athletic club of New Orleans on January 14, 1891, and Fitzsimmons won in 13 rounds. Dempsey was outfought from the start, and had Fitzsimmons not been merciful he could have ended the battle much earlier.

With no other middleweight to fight him, the "lanky" fellow was compelled to go out of his class to obtain a match, so he signed articles with Peter Maher, the Irish champion. In the same arena where he won the middleweight championship, Fitz knocked out Maher in 12 rounds.

Since then Fitzsimmons has met the best heavyweights in the world. After challenging for more than a year, Fitzsimmons finally obtained a match with Corbett for the heavyweight championship of the world. The men fought in Carson City, Nev., on March 17, 1897, and Fitz won in 14 rounds with a solar plexus blow—a punch now famous the world over, and first introduced by the lanky one.

Fitzsimmons fought his only fairly losing battle in America at Coney Island in 1899, when Jeffries beat him. Called a "has-been" after the battle, Fitzsimmons disproved the assertion subsequently by knocking out Ruhlin and Sharkey.

FOLEY WINS PRELIMINARY

Knocks Out Barry in Eleventh Round—Crowd Begins to Clamor for the Big Event.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 25.—The preliminary bout between Dave Barry and Harry Foley, middleweights, kept the crowd amused until 9:35. It was to be a 20-round affair, but Foley knocked out Barry in the eleventh.

Immediately the crowd became impatient, and there was a good deal of stirring and visiting among the well-known characters at the ringside. The appearance of about a dozen women in one party caused a momentary flurry. They took seats in a box directly back of the press row.

After the preliminary bout was finished a battle royal, with four negroes in the ring at one time, was greeted with uproars of laughter. The one who was left at the finish after the other three were declared out was the winner of the bout.

THE WEATHER.

Showers are forecasted for today and tomorrow for Pittsburgh and vicinity by the Washington weather bureau. Yesterday was another warm day in this section and during the afternoon the temperature went several degrees higher than on Thursday. # OLD MAN'S JABS CAN ONLY SERVE TO DRAW BLOOD

Fitzsimmons Fails to Put Necessary Steam Behind His Many Blows.

JEFFRIES BADLY CUT UP

Bleeding from Nose, Face and Ear, but Is There With Fatal Punch When Opportunity Comes in the Eighth Round.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

San Francisco, July 25.—At 10:05 Bob Fitzsimmons stepped into the ring, carrying his gloves and dressed in a long light blue bathrobe. Following him were Clark Ball, Hank Griffin, George Dawson and a bottle holder.

Jeffries reached the ring at 10:10, dressed in a long overcoat, pants, a sweater and a Panama hat. About him were Billy Delaney, Joe Eagan, Joe Kennedy and George Miller. Jeffries walked up and inspected Fitzsimmons' bandages, passing them without comment. Both men were given a warm reception.

Jim Corbett sent a challenge to fight the winner. This was received with applause, but a moment later came the announcement that Sharkey sent a challenge was greeted with jeers.

Fitzsimmons wore bandages on both hands. Jeffries wore no bandages. Fitzsimmons took his stool, and sat quietly chewing gum. He looked slightly older than when he last fought in San Francisco, but much the same otherwise.

Jeffries looked confident and sat in his corner chewing gum, while the little preliminary announcements were being made. Fitz donned his gloves, which were a light maroon. Jeffries' were very dark red. Ben Solomon was timekeeper for the club, Edward Wheeler for Fitzsimmons and Billy Gallagher for Jeffries.

When Jeffries stripped off his sweater he showed up to perfection. He looked as if he had taken off considerable weight, but his muscles stood out firm and hard. His flesh was brown as a berry, showing the effect of hard work.

Fitzsimmons was introduced first and was given quite as hearty a greeting as that which greeted the champion a moment later. Bob doffed his dressing gown, showing up in splendid shape. He wore short lavender tights and a belt of the American flag. Jeffries wore black tights and a belt of the American flag.

Eddy Graney, the referee, was attired in the conventional evening dress. The men were photographed with hands clasped in the center of the ring. 10:19 p. m. Graney delivered his instructions to the men. 10:25 p. m. The men took their corners.

First round. They came quickly to the center, Jeffries in a half-crouching attitude and both feinting rapidly. Jeffries followed Bob around, feinting with left and looking for an opening. Fitzsimmons was the first to lead. He sent a short right jab to the jaw and a moment later Jeffries crouched and rushed, but Fitz neatly side-stepped out of the way. Jeffries rushed again and Fitzsimmons smothered his lead for the body. Both of them did a lot of feinting, Jeffries finally trying left for the face, but it fell short. He forced his man into the corner but missed a hard left swing. Then Fitzsimmons tried for face, landing lightly. Jeffries sent in a hard left on the body and Bob countered on the head without damage. Jeffries continued to force his man and when the gong sounded he was on the aggressive. When the champion took his corner his nose was bleeding slightly from one of Fitzsimmons left jabs. He looked confident, however, and sat watching Fitzsimmons during the minute's respite.

Second round—Jeffries went right after Fitzsimmons, trying for the head and falling short. Fitzsimmons jabbed left to the neck, and Jeffries smiled and forced him to the corner. The lanky fellow quickly side-stepped out of the way. Fitzsimmons tried right for the head, but was quickly and neatly blocked. Fitzsimmons broke ground before Jeffries' left, but finally tried a left for the head. It was light, however, and the champion caught it on the shoulder. They changed lefts, Bob putting stiff left on the face. Jeffries crouched lower and sent Fitzsimmons back against the ropes with a left on the body. Fitzsimmons put two left hooks on the face and got out of the way of the champion's left. Jeffries went at him with a stiff left on the head. He got a left jab on the nose that brought blood in a stream over his nose. At the close of the round Jeffries was somewhat worried, but took matters coolly during the minute's rest. His nose was bleeding freely. Fitzsimmons, on the other hand, was as cool as a cucumber and was not in the least blowed.

Third round—Jeffries came up forcing matters. His bloody nose annoyed him a little. He changed his tactics for a moment and stood up straight. Two left leads were blocked by Fitzsimmons, and a left jab on the sore nose returned. Jeffries tried another left, but was stopped with a left jab on the face. In a clinch Jeffries pushed Fitzsimmons back. Fitzsimmons put a stiff one on the nose and Jeffries bled freely. Jeffries cheek was opened with a left hook and more blood flowed. The champion rushed, swinging left and right. They were blocked, but a left caught Bob hard in the stomach. Bob jabbed left to face twice. Jeffries looked worried. The lanky fellow was cool and got out of teh way. Jeffries face was covered with blood from his nose and a gash over the right eye at the end of the round. Delaney busied himself over him between rounds.

Fourth round—Jeffries looked enraged as he crouched and clinched his lips. He was very careful and stayed clear of Fitzsimmons' left jabs. Bob blocked two swings for the head and got out of the reach of another. A moment later they came together and exchanged lefts on the face. Fitzsimmons put a short right hook on the head and Jeffries landed left on the chest. Fitzsimmons put Jeffries' head back with a left jab and started the blood. Jeffries got another right on head, but came in with two left hooks, one for the head an other for the body. Fitzsimmons was going savage, however, and the force was broken. Bob led a stiff left on the body, but got a right on the head. Fitzsimmons then took a turn at forcing, putting left on face twice and compelling Jeffries to duck away. Jeffries looked worried as he listened to Delaney's instructions.

Fifth round—They feinted for a moment. Then Jeffries led left for the body, but missed and got a chop on the body. Fitzsimmons got a left to Jeffries' face, but took left and right on the body. Jeffries forced Fitzsimmons to the ropes and put left on face twice. Fitzsimmons clinched, and when they broke sent in two body blows from left and right, delivered from the hips. They clinched repeatedly. Fitzsimmons put a terrific right on the jaw and a moment later a left on the face. Jeffries cut Fitzsimmons' right cheek with a left. They fought rapidly, Fitzsimmons cutting Jeffries' face with his left and putting right on head. Jeffries was bleeding freely and was tired. Just before the close of the round Fitz put a right over Jeffries' left eye, cutting it and bringing blood. Jeffries was not winded, but was bleeding from the nose, left eye and right cheek. The only mark on Fitzsimmons was a slight abrasion on the right cheek.

Sixth round. Jeffries came up and crouched low. He missed his first attempt with a left for the head. He rushed, but the wily Fitz blocked every blow and got out of the way. Fitzsimmons put a right to Jeffries' head, one on the body and another on the nose. Jeffries broke ground and ducked out of the way. They exchanged lefts on the head, Fitzsimmons' being the most damaging.

Jeffries rushed again and again, but he was smothered and took three lefts and a right on the face. Jeffries rushed Fitzsimmons to the ropes, but got a right and left on the face, which started the blood afresh. Fitzsimmons showed remarkable cleverness in getting away from rushes. Jabs were getting, and just as the gong sounded he put another on Jeffries' sore mouth and nose.

Seventh round. Jeffries showed up well and rushed Fitzsimmons determinedly. He put left to body, took left and right on the head. Neither was damaging, however, and when a moment later they came together Jeffries put two terrific left swings on the body and head. Jeffries wore a determined look. As he stopped to clinch Fitzsimmons jabbed left three times in the mouth and forced him to the ropes. Jeffries came back like an enraged bull, and, bleeding from his nose, mouth and cheek, he rushed the smaller man to the ropes, putting left on body and right over the heart. Fitzsimmons stood him off, however, with left jabs, occasionally sending left to the head. Jeffries sent left to the head and in the clinch they carried on a conversation, Fitzsimmons smiling good naturedly, while Jeffries was bleeding and presented a terrible appearance. He was not tired, however, and took it easy in the wait.

Eighth round. Bob stood up straight, feinting with his left and sawing Jeffries on. Jeffries smiled through his bloody features, ducking a left swing and landing a hard left on the ribs. They went at it. Fitzsimmons putting left on face and took one on the head. Fitzsimmons missed a right and took a stiff punch on the body. Jeffries forced the fighting at this stage, crouching low and carrying his right high and left far back. They came together and clinched.

As Fitzsimmons stepped back he smiled and spoke to Jeffries, and before he could get out of reach Jeffries quickly hooked his left to the stomach, followed by left to jaw, and Fitzsimmons went down on his back. He came up slowly, but before he could get upon his feet, the referee counted 10 and the fight was over.

MAYOR SCHMITZ OCCUPIES A BOX AT THE RINGSIDE

Great Crowds Line Adjoining Streets to Await Opening of the Gates.

SHARKEY BLUFFS BY WIRE

Sailor Says He Would Like to Meet Winner—Cheers for Fighters as They Come to the Scene of the Battle.

San Francisco, July 25.—It was late in the afternoon when the great canopy covering the octagonal ring, in which the battle took place, was finally stretched. The grounds were then cleared by the police, and stragglers were ejected. Before sundown long lines of men formed on Valencia street and Julian avenue and awaited the opening of the gates.

The gates were opened at 6 o'clock, and the ticket holders began to flock in. The gallery consisted of a series of tiers, the last one resting against the improvised back wall, or high board fence, sloping down to the ground level. The occupants of these seats really were afforded the best view of all that occurred in the ring. At 7:30 o'clock the doors leading to the more favored sections were opened and the sections immediately behind the box seats gradually filled up. A number of well-known faces were among the early arrivals.

The Ring Declared Ready.

There was no disorder until 8 o'clock, when the crush became heavy, but 240 policemen handled the crowd well. The arc lights over the ring were turned on at 7:45, by which time the bleachers, holding fully 5,000 people, were filled. The usual night fog did not prevail and although the evening air was chilly there was no discomfort. Kid Egan, representing the champion; Clark Ball, for Fitzsimmons, and Al Greggains, for the San Francisco Athletic club, inspected the premises at 8 o'clock and agreed that all was in readiness for the fight.

In front of the boxes to the west of the ringside sat Mayor Eugene Schmitz, in company with other city officials. Mike Kennedy, Harry Harrison and Jules Markbright were among the easterners occupying seats at the ringside. George Siler had a seat in the press row.

The arrangements of the arena and construction of the ring were something of a departure from the usual lines followed in such matters.

In a vacant lot at Fourteenth and Valencia street a high board fence was erected. In the center of the space the ring was built, the floor being four feet from the ground.

On the four sides of the ring were arranged the press seats and immediately back of them the boxes, which were simply spaces partitioned off and 24 chairs placed in each compartment. These rested on the ground without the least elevation.

Best View From Gallery.

Back of the boxes came long rows of board seats or benches, all on the same level with conveniently arranged aisles. To the rear and back to the board fence were placed the gallery benches.

The ring was a substantially constructed affair. Built upon a good foundation of solid timbers, the floor was made of a double thickness of inch boards. Over these there was a heavy padding of felt one inch in thickness. A heavy brown canvas, drawn tight and fastened at the edges, completed a solid and safe ring.

The lights were suspended from four upright posts, one at each corner of the ring. These uprights sloped gradually toward the center and a succession of cross-beams at the top held 14 arc lights, and over the whole a canvas tent covered the seats as far out as the "gallery" seats. The ropes of the ring were the latest thing in that line, consisting of heavy, smooth one-inch cotton rope. Two of these, the first three feet from the floor and the second 18 inches above it, were guyed from the uprights which held the lights and tent. There were no sharp corners. Across the canvas were placed short padded ropes that cut out the sharp angles, but still left the ring of full size.

Sharkey Makes His Bluff.

Tom Sharkey was early on hand with a challenge to the winner. From him at New York came a telegram addressed to Tim McGrath, announcing his safe arrival from London, and asking that McGrath shy his castor in the ring.

At 8:25 p. m. the crowd became dense. The aisles were congested and much confusion ensued. This was soon straightened out, however, and when the principals of the preliminary fight came on there was hardly a vacant place in all the 8,300 provided seats.

At 8:20 p. m. Fitzsimmons arrived in a carriage at the entrance of Valencia street. He was cheered by the crowd that stood at the entrance. Fitzsimmons went immediately to his dressing tent at the right of the main entrance and proceeded to dress. He was accompanied by his manager, Clark Ball, Hank Griffin, the colored pugilist, and one or two friends. The once champion declared that he never felt better, and that he would win. He was in a cheerful frame of mind, inquired about the crowd in attendance, and other matters incident to the fight.

About 10 minutes later Jeffries drove up and got out of his carriage, followed by his trainer, Billy Delaney; his brother Jack, his boxing partner, Joe Kennedy, and Kid Egan, his secretary. The crowd set up a terrific roar at the sight of the big fellow, to which he responded by a wave of the hand.

Jeffries in Quiet Mood.

Proceeding direct to his dressing tent, Jeffries immediately got ready to don his ring costume. He was not in a talkative mood, but appeared calm and confident. He expressed satisfaction when told that the place was jammed.

There was so little ringside betting that it was hardly appreciable. The odds were about the same that have prevailed the last few days—10 to 4.

There were a few heavily veiled women noticeable among those seated in the boxes. Their presence was passed over by the crowd without any demonstration of disapproval, as is usual in such cases.

At 8:45 p. m. the late Jack Dempsey's belt, which was brought here from Portland, was brought to the ring and exhibited to sell tickets for the benefit of Dempsey's widow and children. Volunteers were called for among those active in the ring today to act as solicitors. Among those volunteering were Joe Gans, Jimmy Britt and Young Peter Jackson.

No Vacant Spots Visible.

By 9 o'clock all the ticketholders were in their allotted spaces and not a vacant seat was visible. The big audience presented an unusual spectacle. Banked up against the walls on all sides there was a solid, dark mass, sloping down to a level with those in the boxes and other high priced seats. Scattered about the aisles stood many policemen, but they had nothing to do, as the ushers had mastered the details of the seating arrangements and conducted the ticketholders to their places without confusion.

Outside the big inclosure the wind blew a gale, but the temperature within was quite comfortable. The lights from the 14 arc lamps suspended above the ring were the only lights within the inclosure.

When asked in the dressing room as to his weight, Fitzsimmons replied:

"Oh, about 158 or 160."

He added that when he fought Jeffries at Coney Island he weighed 156 pounds. As Fitzsimmons has not weighed in the presence of any outsider recently, his exact weight is problematical.

Jeffries, according to Delaney, weighed 215 pounds this afternoon. These figures might be stated at about 217 pounds at the ringside.

JEFFRIES DRAWS $14,700 FOR BATTLE

SAN FRANCISCO, July 25.—(Special.)—Conservative estimates place the amount of money taken in at the arena tonight at $35,000. Of this amount 70 per cent, $24,500, goes to the fighters, Jeffries being the winner, will draw $14,700, leaving the other 40 per cent, $9,800, to Fitzsimmons.

GREAT CROWDS AWAITED NEWS FROM THE FIGHT

Gathered Hours Before Contest Began in San Francisco.

FORGOT TIME DIFFERENCE

Betting Was Light, but Welsh Mill Workers Thought Well of Fitzsimmons at the Great Odds Which Were Offered—Throng Impatient.

A great crowd struggled and pushed and waited with ill-concealed impatience last night in front of The Gazette office and other newspaper offices of the city for the first bulletins from the Jeffries-Fitzsimmons fight at San Francisco. Many of the waiters realized that there was a difference of three hours in the time of the two cities, but nevertheless, they came early to secure good places from which to view the bulletins as they were posted.

Those who realized that the fight, which was scheduled for 9:30 San Francisco time, would not begin until 12:30 Pittsburgh time, were amused at the impatience of the crowd, but they, too, waited. Seldom has there been such interest manifested in a prize fight as was shown here last night. There was little betting, except on the number of rounds, and Jeffries was the favorite, although the admirers of "Lanky Bob" were numerous.

A Stirring Scene.

The scene in Fifth avenue was a stirring one, as the street was closely packed and at times street car traffic was entirely blocked. The crowd was composed almost exclusively of men, although here and there a group of girls waited with less patience than their male escorts and voiced their disapproval of the slowness in getting returns in no uncertain tones. The absurdity of expecting even a newspaper like The Gazette to get the returns at 9:30 from a fight that began 3,000 miles away three hours later did not seem to strike them.

All seemed afraid that if they went away they would miss some of that intense excitement that a prize fight seems to call forth among the American people. Apparently they realized that the next best thing to see the fight was to read the bulletins that told how the battle was progressing, round by round and blow by blow.

It was interesting to hear the comments. The largest crowds were in front of The Gazette building and when 9:30 o'clock arrived much impatience was expressed because no bulletins were put out. Just at that hour the fighters themselves were resting in their training quarters, knowing that three hours had yet to elapse before they would enter the ring; their trainers hovering solicitously about them.

Three Hours Ahead.

While the Pittsburgh crowd was yelling with impatience for the first bulletins the news still had three hours for the making.

Policemen on Fifth avenue were much annoyed. They had not suspected anything like it, most of them being men who have entered the department after having passed a civil service examination, and who, therefore, know that it takes the sun four minutes to cross a degree of longitude; that between Pittsburgh and San Francisco there are 170 such degrees, and that the sun takes two hours and 50 minutes to traverse the distance. These policemen had great scorn for the crowd of "ignoramuses," and ordered them not to blockade the sidewalk, repeating monotonously: "There will be no fight until half-past 12 o'clock."

The crowd thinned out but little, even after the policemen's insistent declaration. By that time it was 11 o'clock, and, having waited already an hour and a half, many of the spectators concluded to wait the hour and a half longer until the beginning of the fight.

The bar of Newell's hotel was crowded with betting men, and there seemed to be lots of Fitzsimmons money at the prevailing odds. Earlier in the evening the crowd in the hotel was chiefly composed of men who were through their work, but about 9 o'clock millworkers began to arrive. They were easily recognized.

JEFFRIES WHIPPED ALL THE BIG ONES

Boiler Maker First Became Prominent as Sparring Partner to Corbett at Carson City.

James J. Jeffries was born in Carroll, O., in 1875, but moved to California with his parents when he was quite young, and has lived there ever since. He was first heard of as a fighter when he assisted James J. Corbett to train for his fight with Fitzsimmons at Carson City. Jeffries' record is:

1898—Defeated Joe Goddard, 4 rounds; defeated Peter Jackson, 3 rounds; defeated Peter Everett, 3 rounds; defeated Tom Sharkey, 10 rounds; defeated Bob Armstrong, 10 rounds.

1899—Knocked out Robert Fitzsimmons, 11 rounds; won from Tom Sharkey, 25 rounds.

1901—Defeated Hank Griffin, 4 rounds; knocked out Joe Kennedy, 2 rounds; won from Gus Ruhlin, 5 rounds.

DEMOCRATS NAME A LAW COMMITTEE

WILL ATTEND TO ALL LEGAL DETAILS OF THE CAMPAIGN.

Citizens Conference Committee Refuses Demand of Martin Faction for Place On Third Legislative District Ticket. Campaign Committee to Meet.

The Democratic county executive committee held a meeting yesterday, nearly every one of the 15 members being present. There was a discussion of the plans for organizing the Democrats in the legislative districts and Chairman T. B. Alcorn announced the names of his law committee.

It is the intention of the executive committee to delegate to some good party worker in each legislative district the duty of organizing the party, seeing that the voters are kept informed, and keeping up the enthusiasm now felt for the fusion county ticket. Several names were suggested, but the men chosen will not be announced until they have said they would accept the appointment.

Chairman Alcorn appointed the following lawyers on the law committee: F. P. Iams, chairman; D. T. Watson, W. J. Brennen, D. F. Patterson, S. S. Mehard, Thomas Hernott, S. B. Griffith, E. Z. Smith, W. A. Sipe, John Bane, A. B. Reid, George C. Kiernan, G. C. Lewis, J. P. Lazear, W. L. McConegly and Joseph Howley.

This committee will take care of all legal questions, attend to objections to certificates, go into court to purge the registry lists if necessary. All the lawyers named, it was said at Democratic headquarters, have consented to serve on the committee.

The Democratic campaign committee will meet at headquarters on Monday, at 3:30 p. m. It consists of five members, appointed by the executive committee. They will have practical charge of the campaign work in the county, and will also collaborate with the district organizers to be appointed by the executive committee.

Dr. Cadwalader Evans, chairman of the Citizens' party's executive committee; Harry Moore and Dr. S. S. Woodburn, the committee of three appointed to confer with the Martin faction from the Third legislative district, flatly told the representatives of that faction, yesterday, that it was too late to take off one of the candidates on the fusion ticket to make way for a Democrat, as the nomination papers had been filed, and a month's campaign work had already been done. It would disorganize the ticket, the Martin committee was informed, to take a man off, especially as the ticket was made up after frequent conferences with the Democratic committee of 10.

Col. J. M. Guffey, chairman of the Democratic finance committee, telephoned yesterday to the committee, which met at Democratic headquarters, that he would soon announce the names of the sub-committees, which will take care of the Democratic end of the campaign finances. Mr. Guffey was unable to attend the meeting.

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

Quickly Dissipates Tired Feelings and Gives New Life to the Weak, Nervous and Debilitated.

Tired, languid and despondent feelings prevail to an alarming extent during the heated term of summer. Such feelings indicate depleted blood and a feeble condition of the nervous system.

This is just the time when Paine's Celery Compound is needed to build up flesh and muscle, brace the nerves and clear and strengthen the brain.

Sick headaches, nervous prostration, sleeplessness and a general feeling of mental and physical depression by which life is made almost intolerable in the hot weather, can all be speedily banished by the use of a bottle or two of Paine's Celery Compound, nature's summer renovator and strength-giver.

Paine's Celery Compound never fails to repair the wasted and wornout tissues; it calms and perfectly regulates nervous action and brings that sweet and restful sleep that makes life happy.

The medicine that in the past has done such marvelous things for others is the kind you should use at this time.

MANY PEOPLE TO BE CALLED ON TO IDENTIFY A DOG

Loss of Wendler's $5,000 Pup Is Exciting Much Interest

MANY WITNESSES WANTED

Both Defendant and Prosecutor Seem Determined to Fight the Matter to the Bitter End—Wendlers Have Got Another Big Dog.

There have been few occurrences in the East End that have excited as much interest as the celebrated dog case, brought to light in Justice Creelman's court, Wilkinsburg, publication of which was made yesterday. All the parties to the suit are highly connected, and both defendant and prosecutor seem to be intent upon maintaining their respective claims to the bitter end.

L. Karcher of No. 638 Peebles street, Wilkinsburg, who was arrested upon complaint of J. H. Wendler, druggist, corner Brushton avenue and Tioga street, this city, charged with the theft of the St. Bernard dog valued by the Wendlers at $5,000, which mysteriously disappeared from their home March 29, gave $500 bond yesterday for his appearance next Thursday afternoon. W. H. Holmes, a merchant of No. 632 Peebles street, Wilkinsburg, became his bondsman.

Many Witnesses Summoned.

Karcher will put up a vigorous defense. Yesterday he was busy making up a list of witnesses to be summoned in his behalf. Wendler, the prosecuting witness, is also looking out for witnesses, and yesterday sent in the following list to Justice Creelman to be summoned for the purpose of identifying the dog found in Mr. Karcher's possession. They are all well-known Pittsburgh people, residing in the East End: John Mitchell, No. 614 Brushton avenue; L. C. Morton, No. 202 Brushton avenue; C. Brooke, No. 115 Brushton avenue; Mrs. P. Frazier, No. 7712 Tioga street; Lyman Hissem, No. 7608 Bennett street; John K. Moss, No. 260 Brushton avenue; John Thompson, Milford and Braddock streets.

Mrs. Wendler, who lost 29 pounds through grieving over the loss of her big pet, was seen by a reporter yesterday. She reiterates all her former published statements regarding the dog, and says that she will swear that the dog she saw in Karcher's back yard is the identical animal that so mysteriously disappeared, and that she would do this if she knew her next breath was to be her last.

Wendlers Have Another Big Dog.

Wendler says that if one were to place $5,000 in cash in one hand and the dog in the other and ask him to choose between them, he would take the dog.

Since "Rex" was stolen or became lost Wendler has bought another fine specimen of the St. Bernard, a shaggy variety, that weighs 238 pounds. But Mrs. Wendler is not satisfied and her grief over her original pet has been very pronounced. She is still greatly exercised as to whether or not she will ever secure her treasure in as good condition as when he left home.

She told the reporter who called upon her that the canine had grown from six to eight inches taller since he was last seen by her in March. She is positive, however, that he is her lost dog, on account of a wart on his lip and an extra toe on one of his feet.

Both plaintiff and defendant are anxious that A. C. Walker, the Sewickley druggist, be present at the hearing next Thursday afternoon, but as the latter gentleman is said to be contemplating a trip east they may both be disappointed.

Who Are Suing to Recover Their $5,000 Dog.

NATURE GRACIOUS TO THE TEACHERS DURING VOYAGE

Guests of Gazette and Chronicle Telegraph Had Ideal Sea Trip.

NO COMFORTS LACKING

Delightful Weather, Congenial Passengers and Splendid Steamer Appointments Were Features That Made the Ocean Journey Pleasant.

By L. W. STRAYER,
Staff Correspondent.
(Special Letter to The Gazette.)

Steamship Minnehaha, En Route, July 13—The wisdom of the selection of a slow ship for the transportation of The Gazette and Chronicle Telegraph teachers' excursion has been shown throughout the entire voyage. Rest and comfort are the two requisites for a successful ocean trip and these have been afforded to the Minnehaha's passengers. And such weather! Nature could not have been kinder to our party.

Sitting upon the hurricane deck watching the grandeur of a splendid sunset and waiting for the first twinkle of the evening stars, there is a restfulness in the air that compensates for many days of worry and work and bustle in the busy world. Business cares are left behind and there is nothing to contemplate but the broad expanse of sea and the beautiful canopy of the heavens.

To the young and poetic the scene brings tender thoughts and sentimental quotations, but to the busy man who is seeking rest and recreation it brings that which he most needs—calm and peace.

Our passenger list numbers 184 persons, and of that number there are fully 25 lawyers. Then there are ministers, doctors, manufacturers and other professional people, all seeking the recuperation that is demanded by a year of hard work. Experience has taught them that the slow boat is the one where they will find this restfulness in the greatest degree.

Dr. and Mrs. Ure Abroad.

Among the passengers is James W. Osborne, assistant district attorney of New York, who is seeking a rest after a very busy winter with the Molineux and Patrick murder trials. Here on the Minnehaha Mr. Osborne finds the tonic of the sea that will strengthen him for his task of trying Molineux for the third time. The trial is to come up during the September term, but it is evident that the assistant district attorney has little hope of getting a third conviction.

The Rev. Dr. D. M. Ure of the Allegheny Theological seminary and Mrs. Ure are also passengers. Both are enjoying the trip and are greatly benefiting from it. They will travel in Europe for several weeks.

Mrs. Gilbert, the veteran actress, is one of the passengers who has not missed a meal in the dining saloon since we left New York. She is as spry and active as any woman of her years and spends her time in her steamer chair on the promenade deck, reading and chatting.

These people and many others know and appreciate a large and slow ship for the advantages it offers for restfulness. The routine on board the Minnehaha begins in the morning with the bath steward's summons to the refreshing salt water bath that is awaiting. This is a tonic that those who live inland fully appreciate. Then comes the stateroom steward with the coffee and cracker that stay weak stomachs until the breakfast call and form a welcome lunch to all.

A Day on Ship.

To dress and get on deck is the next thing and a dozen turns about the promenade deck give an edge to the appetite that makes the bugle call to breakfast a melodious strain. This is at 8:30 and is a very substantial meal. In fact, all meals on shipboard must be substantial, for the salt air is a wonderful appetizer and there must be an abundance to eat.

After breakfast comes more exercise, games of shuffleboard, skittles or ring-a-peg, or the passengers settle down to reading and writing or idle dozing until luncheon. At 1 o'clock the bugle call again sounds its welcome notes and luncheon is served. Then follows an afternoon of time-killing, games, reading, promenading and any diversion that will cause persons to forget the great afflictions of sea travel—seasickness and homesickness. But there is always something to do and something to talk about. If you have no other subject to discuss you talk about your roommate who snores, or about the girl in the red sweater, or about the ladies who bother the handsome ship's surgeon with imaginary ills. You must expect to gossip and be gossiped about. It is just as necessary as the passage money.

At 6:30 dinner is served, and although tea has been served at 4 o'clock, the dinner call is never unwelcome. After dinner there is more promenading and more games, and then the passengers settle themselves in their steamer chairs to witness the sunset and enjoy the delightful twilight.

As the evening passes, small parties gather in the dining saloon for an impromptu concert or a game of cards. Others seek the library for chess or an interesting book, while many of the gentlemen sit in the smoking-room and with brandy and soda and cigars while away the evening exchanging stories of travel and personal incidents that are very entertaining.

About 9:30 sandwiches are served in the dining saloon and in the smoking-room. At 10:30 the decks become quieter and more deserted. The good ship travels steadily onward over the trackless deep and the phosphorescent sparks in its wake twinkle a reply to the stars. There come thoughts of home and friends and the most unimaginative mind cannot resist a contemplation of the grandeur of the universe as the eye sweeps from horizon to horizon. Deck lights are extinguished, the chairs are stowed away for the night and the ship is wrapped in slumber.

What makes the Minnehaha so steady and safe is her great size. She is 600 feet long, 63.5 feet beam and has a gross tonnage of 13,400 tons. She is a twin-screw ship with an average speed of 16 knots. Her crew numbers 167 men and her officers are splendid types of the British sailor. Capt. John Robinson is the skipper, and though a quiet and dignified gentleman, yet he has the reputation of a strict disciplinarian. The Atlantic Transport Line, to whose fleet the Minnehaha belongs, is an English company, with boats sailing under the English flag and officered by Englishmen, but controlled by American capital. The president of the company lives in Baltimore.

The Captain's Adventures.

Capt. Robinson today granted me an interview in his cabin, and though, like all sailors, he is averse to talking about himself, in the course of a half hour's conversation he told me some interesting facts. Now 55 years of age and the picture of mature health, he has been at sea for 43 years. For 22 years he has been in command on the Atlantic and in that time he has never been on shore longer than three months at a time.

"I have been singularly fotunate," remarked the captain, in discussing the dangers of a sailor's life, "and have never been shipwrecked. Twenty-four years ago I rescued the crew of the bark Deborah S. Soule of Milwaukee, which was sinking in a gale. She carried what was probably the first cargo of slate ever shipped for England. For this I was awarded a medal by the Liverpool Humane society.

"Six years later I rescued the crew of the bark Anna of Pilian, Germany, and for this service I was awarded the United States gold medal for life-saving, the silver medal of the Liverpool Humane society and an ebony casket of mathematical instruments by the emperor of Germany. Later I rescued the crew of the bark Kelton of Glasgow and received a medal and clasp. The bark sank soon after the crew was taken off.

"When I was a young man, during your civil war, I twice ran the blockade, once at Nassau and again at Charleston. Another interesting voyage I made was to Suakim, where I took British soldiers for the relief of Gordon."

There are three things upon which Capt. Robinson particularly prides himself. The first is discipline. It is in the very air that surrounds the Minnehaha. There is no bellowing of orders, no swearing and excitement, but every officer and sailor goes about his work with a manner that clearly indicates that he knows his duty and is expected to do it.

The captain also insists upon a clean ship. Everything about the vessel from the decks to the staterooms bears evidence of this. House cleaning is constantly going on and everything is kept shipshape. And Capt. Robinson says with pride that his is a moral ship. Of this there is also evidence manifest to every passenger.

"All ships are not moral ships," remarked the captain; "but on this vessel you can send your wife or your daughter in perfect safety. We look to their protection."

The captain paid our party a very pretty compliment—and sailors are not accustomed to "throwing bouquets" about promiscuously.

"I think your party comprises a crowd of excellent young ladies," he said, "and I have been glad to have them on board. I should be pleased to have them sail with me again."

The captain has two excellent assistants in the purser and the chief steward. H. Forney Baker is the purser and William Sismey the chief steward. Both have been very kind and attentive to the wants of The Gazette tourists. Both will have prominent places in the recollections of this voyage across the Atlantic.

Who Invented the Compass?

There are some people who assert that the mariner's compass was first heard of from the famous traveler, Marco Polo, while others declare it is of much later invention.

Whoever he was, the creator of this instrument to keep people in the right direction deserves the plaudits of all mankind.

But there are other ways to keep in the straight path, for instance, a 4 per cent interest-bearing savings account (compounded semi-annually) with the Standard Security Trust Company, 209-213 Fourth avenue.

Out-of-town depositors will be interested in this strong institution's splendid system which makes it so convenient to bank by mail.

PIANO CLEARANCE

Midsummer Event Brings Scores of People to Hamilton's Old Reliable Store.

WORKINGMEN ENTHUSIASTIC

A great many workingmen will no doubt be gratified to learn that they can attend Hamilton's mid-summer clearance sale of pianos this evening. The store will remain open until 10 o'clock, as it always does on Saturdays. And judging from the number of skilled mechanics who have taken advantage of the low prices prevailing this week, the sale has started a great deal of business will be done at this progressive establishment before the store closes.

Hamilton's clearance sale prices really save buyers from one-third to one-half on the average instrument. This is a pretty strong assertion, but it is borne out by the facts, and anyone can verify it by visiting Hamilton's and asking prices on any instrument in stock.

After all is said and done it is really extravagance to buy one of the pianos ordinarily sold at a low price. Such instruments are practically worthless, and only cause the buyers the loss of their valuable time, to say nothing of trying the patience of those obliged to play upon them. By paying just a little more at this clearance sale you can procure one of the highest grade instruments made, and you can pay for it on such easy installments that you will really never miss the money. And, of course, you will have the constant use of the instrument while you are paying for it. It is delivered to you immediately.

If you have any children who are musically inclined and especially if they show marked talent, you will do yourself a great favor by attending this sale. Your children will thank you in years to come for the good they will derive from the use of a high-grade piano, which is not only infinitely more pleasing, but it lasts so much longer than ordinary pianos as to more than make up the difference in price during its term of service. It is really the worst form of extravagance to buy a "common" piano. And it need hardly be said that Hamilton's don't sell any such instruments. Every piano in this stock, no matter what the price, is fully guaranteed. The customer is protected in every instance.

If you can't come in person send for catalogue. It will be sent to you promptly.

IN THE PHILIPPINES.

Affairs Graphically Described in a Letter from a Former Minister of Washington, Pa.

An interesting letter on general affairs in the Philippine islands was received by Charles Knepper of Carnegie from the Rev. W. H. Hanna, a minister, formerly located in Washington, Pa.

"At present," he says, "there are three American dailies published here. The others are thought to be much of the 'knocker' order. All have narrowly escaped being suppressed. One of our judges well described the attitude of most of them—'you are guilty of too intense Americanism. You are seeking to accomplish in a day what good men hope to accomplish in years.'" Further on the letter states:

"We are getting Americanized—we have had a strike. One of the men who is out of a job because Aguinaldo's plans miscarried, has been the agitator. The printing offices were first affected. Efforts were made to establish American prices for such work, even though the Filipinos do, on an average, a third as much as the American workmen.

"The strike continued three days, during which the strikers had a couple of meetings. The problem of 'how' also food, has not been systematized as with our home strikers, so the printers were soon back at the old prices. We have been having a siege of cholera. I do not think I exaggerate, when I say that in these last five months more disinfectants have been used than in all the years of the Spanish occupation."

DEAF PERSONS ARE DEAD TO THE WORLD.

Everybody dislikes to admit, even to himself, that his hearing is failing. But it is most important that you should ask yourself this question and answer it truthfully. What may appear today to be only a slight hardness of hearing may develop swiftly and surely into total deafness.

Think for a moment what that means. It means that spoken words have no more meaning for you. The great, busy, bustling world becomes a soundless void. There is no longer any music, whether of instrument, of birds, of human voice or of all the myriad sweet sounds of nature. No longer is thought flashed from brain to brain on the wings of speech. Nor is this all. You can never again safely venture forth alone. Warnings of approaching danger from behind do not reach your mind. In the busy street you are constantly in danger of being run down and maimed or killed. You become timid, fearful and helpless as a child.

LOOK OUT FOR DANGER.

We dwell on these things in order to awaken you to a realization of how important it is that you should guard your precious sense of hearing. Deafness as a rule comes on gradually and frequently arises from the most trifling causes. In nearly every case it can be prevented or cured.

In a great many cases the hearing is destroyed by catarrh, which extends from the throat along the eustachian tubes into the ears. The hearing is quickly affected, and if neglected total deafness will follow.

If you have any of the following symptoms you should at once have the best treatment procurable:

"Is your hearing failing?"
"Do your ears discharge?"
"Are the ears dry and scaly?"
"Do the ears itch and burn?"
"Is the wax dry in the ears?"
"Have you a pain behind the ears?"
"Is there a throbbing in the ears?"
"Are you gradually getting deaf?"
"Is there a buzzing sound heard?"
"Do you have a ringing in the ears?"
"Are there cracking sounds heard?"
"Is your hearing bad cloudy days?"
"Do you have earache occasionally?"
"Are there sounds like steam escaping?"
"Do you constantly hear noises in the ears?"
"Do ears hurt when you blow your nose?"
"Is there a roaring like waterfall in head?"
"Do you hear better some days than others?"
"Do the noises in the ears keep you awake?"
"When you blow your nose do ears crack?"
"Is hearing worse when you have a cold?"

NOW'S THE TIME.

If you have any of these symptoms consult a specialist at once. Drs. Byers & Tucker have made a specialty of diseases of the ear for so many years and have been so remarkably successful in effecting cures, even in cases where other physicians have failed to give any relief, that many difficult cases are sent to them from all parts of the United States and Canada. Dr. Tucker is recognized as probably the greatest living authority on aural diseases. We will, on request, show letters from and refer you to scores of people in this vicinity, whom he has cured of deafness of many years' standing.

SIEBERT WANTS TO MAKE A SHOW OF PARK WORK

Philanthropic Ringster Who Works Without Salary Sees McCandless.

COURT TRIAL IS NEARING

Administration Men All Interested in the Stand Controller Larkin Takes That Siebert Is Not Competent as a Park Superintendent.

Elmer E. Siebert, the philanthropic superintendent of Highland park, made an official call on Director J. Guy McCandless of the department of public works yesterday to report on the progress of improvements that are being made at that park.

Supt. Siebert has not had any salary from the city for three months. In fact, he has had only one month's salary since he was appointed to the position he now occupies. He has sued the city for his salary and the case is pending trial.

Director McCandless is asking for bids for the construction of shelter houses in the park over which Mr. Siebert presides. Superintendent Siebert came in to tell the director how anxious he is that the work on these be begun early, so that some showing can be made during the fall. In fact, Siebert's salary depends upon the showing he makes.

Controller John B. Larkin has refused to pay him his salary on the ground that he is not a competent man for the place, and Siebert is anxious to show the fiscal officer of the city that he is just the man to have the job. Siebert is anxious to make this showing because he is not at all certain that the court will help him out.

Lively Legal Fight Promised.

Superintendent Siebert said yesterday that he thought the case would be called on Saturday, August 2. The amount due him, according to Mr. Siebert's figures, is now about $700. Siebert being a man of some wealth, the $700 does not cut much figure with him, but he wants the court to tell the controller that it is none of the latter's business whether he is competent for the place. Siebert is, of course, assisted in the suit by City Recorder J. O. Brown, Director McCandless and the other machine officials, all of whom are anxious to clip the controller's wings, and are not at all particular how they do it.

It is not a question of the money with any of the parties concerned, but when the case comes up for trial next Saturday all parties will go into it as though thousands of dollars were involved. The controller will be represented by William B. Rodgers and George W. Guthrie. Burleigh & Gray represent Siebert. The controller holds that the new charter gives him the authority to decide whether an employe filling a certain position is competent for the place, and this is denied by the Brown administration. This is the point at issue.

The case also involves the question whether the controller has the right to go behind the signatures of the city recorder and the director of any of the departments to learn whether certain services have been properly performed, irrespective of the affidavits of the officials which are attached to the various payrolls.

Siebert Still Has Hope.

Superintendent Siebert smiled yesterday when asked whether it is satisfactory to work without hope of reward by way of fame or lucre, and said he though he could stand it for a little time. He was a member of the common council for several terms from the Eighteenth ward. He whipped the Flinnn machine in the primaries the first time he was elected, and fought the ring in councils a great deal during his first term. He whipped them again for re-election, but the last year he was in the common branch he obeyed orders with all the fidelity of a dyed-in-the-wool ringster.

Siebert was to have been a candidate for the select branch last spring, and would have probably whipped Samuel J. Wainwright, Jr., had not the machine stepped in and saved the day by promising to take care of Siebert. For that reason Siebert dropped his ambition and helped elect Wainwright. Siebert wanted to be made a city assessor, as he has had some experience in gauging real estate values. He has made some money in real estate. He could not land the plum, however, and was appointed to the vacant position as superintendent of Highland park, for which position Controller Larkin asserts he is not competent.

FLYNN TAKES FIELD.

National Organizer of Federation of Labor Will Take Up an Eastern Strike.

Thomas H. Flynn, national organizer of the American Federation of Labor, is at his home in Pittsburgh and will leave for Reading in a day or two, to take up the strike of the federal lodges of iron and steel workers there and at Lebanon against the American Iron and Steel Manufacturing Company. He said yesterday that the strike of the eastern iron and steel workers had been won at all points except these two, where about 1,100 men are still idle, while the company is attempting to substitute new men and is said to have gathered a lot in Pittsburgh.

The contest is for the establishment of a puddling wage of $4.50 a ton, with a proportionate scale for roughers, heaters, finishers and other skilled men. The strike was started something over two months ago, when the puddling rate for the eastern men of the Amalgamated association was brought above $6. With the proposed puddling rate of $4 50 established for the boilers of the mills in Eastern Pennsylvania, the federal lodges are being transferred to the Amalgamated association.

A year ago Organizer Flynn conducted a strike at the eastern mills which resulted in raising the puddling rate from as low as $2 75 a ton to $4, after about 35,000 men had been out 13 weeks. When the present demand was made, the mill owners at Douglassville, Pottstown, Burgsboro, Coatesville, Sypers, Danville, and three mills at Lebanon and four at Reading were among those which acceded to it. The Reading Iron Company was among those promptly granting the advance. The Pittsburgh Steel Company at Lancaster, and the Columbia Iron Company at Columbia have since granted the advance and the only contest remaining is with the American Iron and Steel Manufacturing Company.

Molders Re-Elect Old Officers.

TORONTO, ONT., July 25.—At today's session of the International Iron Molders' union President Martin Fox, Covington, Ky.; First Vice President Joe Valentine, San Francisco; Second Vice President M. J. Keough, Troy, N. Y., and Third Vice President J. Fry, Worcester, Mass., were all re-elected. Philadelphia was selected as the next place of meeting.

Mine Assessments Heavily Raised.

DULUTH, MINN., July 25.—The board of equalization has fixed the assessed valuations of the mines of St. Louis county at $30,154,900. The advance is 330 per cent over last year.

SINKING FUND GETS SOME CITY BONDS

Since Organizing a Few Weeks Ago the Commission Has Invested About $200,000 and Still Has $300,000 to Put Out for Good Bonds.

A deal was made yesterday by the sinking fund commission, whereby $25,000 worth of Pittsburgh city bonds are now in the hands of the city, and are held in the sinking fund. The identity of the seller remains in obscurity, and the rate of premium at which the commission secured the bonds is also kept a secret by the commission.

It has been agreed that none of these details shall be given to the public as the commission believes it might hinder future transactions. It is officially stated, however, that the bonds are good investments and will add to the city's income.

Robert Pitcairn, resident assistant to the president of the Pennsylvania railroad, is president of the commission, and Assistant Controller Eustace S. Morrow is its secretary. Mr. Pitcairn is in Europe, and many other members of the commission are out of the city spending the summer.

Secretary Morrow is acting as the commission in the commission's absence. His experience in the purchase and sale of city bonds extends over many years, and he was given full power to act by the commission when it adjourned some weeks ago. The negotiation which culminated yesterday has been on for several days. Mr. Morrow and the other man spending the time in haggling over the premium to be paid.

It is within the power of the commission to buy either city, state or national bonds, but the commission has decided that it wants only city bonds. It believes that by getting control of these bonds and keeping them in the city's charge they can be more expeditiously retired when they become due. The commission has had several opportunities within the past few days to make purchases of state and national bonds, but has refused the offers. A representative of W. J. Hayes & Sons, bankers of Cleveland, was in the city this week, and had a long conference with Secretary Morrow relative to selling some bonds to the commission. Very advantageous terms were offered by the Cleveland man, but Mr. Morrow refused them, as he has a deal on to get possession of some more Pittsburgh bonds.

"We think Pittsburgh bonds are the best investment," said Mr. Morrow yesterday. "We know that Pittsburgh bonds are good, and while we know the same concerning state and national bonds, yet we can the more easily control Pittsburgh bonds when we have them in our sinking fund. When the interest comes due on Pittsburgh city bonds we have in the sinking fund we just take the money out of one pocket and pay it into another.

"It would be an excellent idea, just now, if we had a law that would enable us to retire those bonds when we are able to purchase them. Such a law was enacted in 1881, but was vetoed by Governor Robert E. Pattison, being the first veto the ex-governor ever wrote. We could use the money in the sinking fund to great advantage in doing that sort of thing. Mr. Pattison, however, said that such a law would be unconstitutional, and I was not prepared at that time to debate the question with him, nor am I so prepared at this time. In my judgment, however, such a law would be an excellent thing for Pittsburgh just now."

Since the commission was organized, about five weeks ago, it has well invested about $200,000 of sinking fund money and has about $300,000 still in hand to invest. Several million dollars from the sinking fund have been invested during the past few years.

BOILER MAKERS WILL ASK EIGHT-HOUR DAY

Baltimore Convention Decides to Stand by the Demand, Which Will Be Presented June 1, 1903.

The Brotherhood of Boiler Makers and Iron Shipbuilders, at the Baltimore convention just closed, took a number of radical steps in the interest of the organization, which is one of the oldest in the country. The convention voted for a stand to introduce the eight-hour day for all members of the brotherhood, on June 18, 1903.

Most of the members of the organization are now working under a nine-hour system. The Pittsburgh organization established an advanced wage at all but one shop under the nine-hour system this summer.

The Baltimore convention voted to subdivide the organization into six districts and to have the vice-presidents in each district act as general organizers at a salary of $100 a month and expenses. For this purpose the convention called for an assessment of 25 cents per quarter on each member. This fund, collected from some 22,000 members, will create more than a sufficient fund to pay the vice-presidents and the rest will be used as a defense fund.

The convention proposed to create the new office of assistant secretary to aid William J. Gilthorpe, the present secretary-treasurer. Mr. Gilthorpe is a veteran in the organization, having been its secretary-treasurer for 28 years. He is 72 years old and it has been arranged that he hold the office either actively or passively to the end of his days. His headquarters are at Kansas City.

Most of the propositions approved by the convention's 175 delegates will be submitted for referendum vote of the organization. Chattanooga, Tenn., and Chicago are the candidates for the next convention, Chattanooga leading.

John McNeill, president, of Kansas City, and other general officers were re-elected.

The convention passed a resolution recommending that all United States vessels be built in the government shipyards, and that no contracts be let for this work. The Pittsburgh delegates to the convention returned home yesterday. It was the Pittsburgh local, No. 154, which proposed making the district vice-presidents general organizers.

The Pittsburgh delegation was composed of Thomas H. Flynn, national organizer of the American Federation of Labor; S. K. Rodgers, the new vice-president of the district; John B. Cuddy, recording secretary of the Pittsburgh local; George Manchester, retiring vice-president of the district; R. L. Brady, Pittsburgh, business agent, and D. A. McClennon of the Pittsburgh local.

TESTATOR LEFT HIS ABSENT SON $5 IN HIS WILL

Boy Who Left Home Gets Small Share of D. H. Cunningham's $37,500.

ATTORNEYS FILE ANSWER

John N. Dunn and L. K. Porter Deny That Mrs. S. E. Perrett Was Illiterate or That She Was Influenced in Making a Will.

An absent son is remembered by a nominal bequest in the will of D. H. Cunningham, late of Ross township, which was filed by Attorneys Marshall & Marshall. The estate is worth $37,500. The decedent's wife is given the use of the homestead during her life, and at her death it goes to Joseph Cunningham, a son, who also receives $1,000. Mrs. Cunningham is also to receive the interest on $1,000. Sarah, a daughter, is bequeathed $5,000; R. H. Cunningham, a son, is left $2,000, and William Cunningham, another son, is left $1,000. To Alfred Cunningham, a son, is left $5, "should he ever return," the testator wrote.

In the matter of the contest growing out of the will of Mrs. Sarah E. Perrett, who left a valuable estate, answers were filed yesterday by Attorneys L. K. Porter and John M. Dunn. The share of Henry Perrett, a son of the decedent, was left in trust to these lawyers, and it was claimed that they used undue influence over Mrs. Perrett. They deny that she was illiterate and could not read or understand the language of the will. They also deny that she was influenced by any person in making the will. A like answer was filed by Mrs. Eliza Summers, a daughter of Mrs. Perrett.

WAS A GOOD PROVIDER.

Charles U. Splaine Fights His Wife's Petition to Be Declared a Femme Sole Trader.

Prothonotary A. J. McQuitty yesterday received depositions in the proceedings to declare Mrs. Charlotte W. Splaine a femme sole trader. Charles U. Splaine, her husband, is contesting his wife's petition, and the depositions were taken at Los Angeles, Cal., at his instance, to deny her charges. She claims he failed to support her.

One of the witnesses who testified in the husband's behalf was Minor E. Morrow, the Pittsburgh newspaper man who died last week. While in California for his health, he lived with them, at their home in Los Angeles, for several months. He testified that Splaine was always a good provider, set a good table, and, as far as he knew, paid all the bills. He stated that the husband was neither a drunkard nor a prodigate.

Splaine's landlord, his butcher and grocer testified in his behalf, and all stated that he paid most of the bills and furnished the money as far as they could see. Proceedings are pending in the matter in common pleas court No. 2.

DENIES JURISDICTION.

Government Engineer Says Court Cannot Interfere in Erection of a Crib.

In the United States circuit court yesterday in the answer of the defendant in the case of Nathaniel G. Macrum, trustee, against Capt. William L. Sibert, the jurisdiction of the court in the case is questioned.

The suit is an action growing out of improvements in the Monongahela river near lock No. 1. The plaintiff owns 1¼ acres of land just east of lock No. 1, along which the defendant, who is an engineer in the employ of the United States, has been instructed to extend a crib. The plaintiff stated in his bill of complaint that he would sell his property at a reasonable figure, claiming that the erection of the crib will greatly decrease the value of his property. He asked that an order be made restraining the defendant from extending the proposed crib along his property. The defendant filed a petition claiming that this court had no jurisdiction in the case, as neither of the litigants in the case is a resident of Pennsylvania. He says he is an inhabitant of Alabama, and as Macrum is a resident of Ohio, he insists upon his exemption from suit in this court.

Denies that Children Are Prisoners.

Margaret M. Crooks filed an answer to the proceedings begun by her husband to obtain from her possession of their children, Isabella E. and Wanito E. Crooks. She declares they are not being restrained of their liberty and are receiving the best of care at her parents' home, No. 4907 Dauphin street. She also denies that she deserted her husband, but claims that she was compelled to leave him on account of his cruel and barbarous treatment.

UNCLE SAM GETS NOTE OF RUSSIA ON THE TRUSTS

It Does Not Include, However, Invitation to Proposed Conference.

JUST A MERE SUGGESTION

Meeting Is Mentioned Only in Case the Russian Policy on Sugar Is Successfully Challenged by the Other Powers.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, D. C., July 25.—Through the United States charge of embassy at St. Petersburg, Mr. Riddle, the state department has just received a copy of the Russian note touching upon trusts, which has excited so much comment in Europe. This note, which takes the form of a circular, was handed in St. Petersburg to the representatives of all the powers that participated in the Brussels sugar conference, and, in addition, to Mr. Riddle for transmission to his government at Washington.

Just why this was done, in view of the fact that the United States government was not represented at the Brussels conference, can only be conjectured, and it is supposed that it was supplied as a matter of information and as a courtesy. Certain it is that in the present view the United States executive cannot participate in such a conference as it described, because of constitutional limitations that cannot be escaped, even if there were no other objections.

From a perusal of the note it appears that its references to trusts, which are rather incidental, have attracted the principal share of public attention, although the whole note appears to be framed as an argument in support of the Russian system of regulating sugar production and export. The reference to an international trust conference is actually, therefore, presented in the shape of an alternative proposal, or rather suggestion, only in case the soundness of the Russian contention in support of its present system is successfully challenged.

The state department cannot do more at this stage than it has done, namely, return a polite acknowledgment through Mr. Riddle of the note and watch developments in Europe. It is not supposed that there will be at once any action toward calling another congress, but rather that the discussion as to the character of the Russian system of regulation of sugar production will proceed, certainly up to the date set for the application of the agreement reached at Brussels, for the stoppage of sugar bounties and the exclusion from importation of bounty-aided sugars. This action will, it is expected, precipitate some decision upon the Russian proposals.

Three Cities,
45 Boroughs,
26 Townships,
Fifth in Volume of Bank Clearings.
Fourth in Rank Among Cities.

Yesterday's Health Report—Ten cases of typhoid fever, two of scarlet fever and one of diphtheria were reported to the Pittsburgh bureau of health yesterday.

Died of Cholera—John Gehria, 26 years of age, formerly employed in a Braddock bank, died of cholera in June at Manila, where he was as a member of the Fourteenth infantry.

Electric Fountain to Play—The electric fountain in Schenley park will play every Tuesday and Thursday evening, except when there is some attraction at Highland park.

Old Resident Stricken—Peter Fish, a well-known old resident of Homestead, suffered a paralytic stroke while walking about his home in Eighth avenue yesterday, and is in a serious condition.

Ruined the Crops—There was a very heavy hail and rainstorm in Patton township and in the region about Murraysville yesterday morning between 8 and 9 o'clock. All growing crops were ruined.

Fell from a Window—Hazen Darsie, a 2-year-old son of James Darsie, of No. 206 Eighth avenue, Homestead, is at his home in a serious condition, the result of falling from a second story window yesterday afternoon.

Fatal Chase for Bail—Max Shannon, 16 years of age, son of Harry Shannon of Bradley street, McKees Rocks, ran in front of a street car last night while chasing a ball in the street. He was dead when taken from under the car.

Skull Fractured by Rivet—John Hoben, living in Forbes street, is at the Mercy hospital suffering from a fractured skull received early yesterday morning at the Eliza furnaces of Jones & Laughlins, Ltd., by being struck by a flying rivet.

McConnell's Body Found—The body of John McConnell, mate of the towboat Robert Taylor, who fell overboard on Tuesday night from the boat when it sank in the Ohio river near Sewickley, was yesterday found in the river near Coraopolis.

Painter Got a Shock—Frank Ortel, a painter at Turtle Creek, while putting up a sign on his shop yesterday came in contact with an electric light wire. His hands were badly burned. He rolled down the roof to the gutter, where he was rescued.

Swallowed Carbolic Acid—Mrs. Kate Reitlinger of No. 32 Callen street, Allegheny, is reported to have attempted suicide by swallowing a quantity of carbolic acid at her home. Her husband was present at the time and quickly called a physician, who soon had the woman out of danger.

Is Safe in Ireland—Thomas Cain of Homestead, missing since January, and whom the Homestead police have been making efforts to locate, that he might answer to a charge of abusing his wife, has turned up in Ireland, according to a letter received from him yesterday. Cain says he will never return to America.

New Ordinance Officer—Albert Kennedy has been appointed ordinance officer of Wilkinsburg to succeed John Thompson, who refused to enforce the ordinances according to the ideas of Burgess Horner. When Burgess Horner suspended John Thompson some months ago council promptly reinstated him with pay for the time he was off. Developments this time are awaited with considerable interest.

To Arrest Delinquents—Justice John J. Walker of Wilkinsburg states that he will issue warrants for the arrest of all persons who have failed to pay their county, state and poor taxes today. About $7,000 is yet outstanding in Wilkinsburg and vicinity for the years 1900 and 1901, distributed among about 1,000 inhabitants, and those who do not settle will be arrested and held in custody until they do so.

Tried to Kidnap His Children—John Ceasau was yesterday arrested in McClure avenue, Allegheny, on a charge of disorderly conduct. It is alleged that until two weeks ago Ceasau lived with his wife and family at No. 27 McClure avenue, when he went to Wilkesbarre. Yesterday he returned and attempted to kidnap his two children, but was captured before he could get away with them.

Vogel Became Insane—HOarry N. Vogel, who was committed to the workhouse for 15 months on a charge of entering a building to commit a felony on May 18, became insane at that institution yesterday morning and was taken to the Western Pennsylvania Hhospital for the Insane at Dixmont. Vogel created a sensation in court by defending himself when on trial. He is 23 years old and says that his home is in Indianapolis.

Taken Back to Brooklyn—Samuel and Dora Meyer of Brooklyn, who were arrested by Inspector Fred Will a week ago as fugitives from justice, were taken to that city last evening by a New York city detective. They were arrested six weeks ago in Brooklyn for grand larceny and keeping a disorderly house. H. Sacks, who went on their bond for $1,200, traced them to Buffalo and this city and had them arrested for jumping bail.

Date for Examinations—Special civil service examinations for the Philippines will be held for electrotypers and provincial supervisors on August 12 and for pressmen, bookbinders and engineers on August 25. On August 12 and 13 examinations for clerkships in the state department and nautical experts for the hydrographic office will be held. The examinations will be held in the Federal building, Fourth avenue and Smithfield street.

Policeman's Victim Held — Silas White, colored, who was shot by Policeman J. W. Reed Thursday night, was committed to jail to await trial in court on charge of larceny and pointing firearms. White drew his revolver when Officer Reed attempted to arrest him, and was immediately shot by the policeman. The bullet struck his suspender button and inflicted a slight wound. The shooting occurred in Sachem alley, where White lived.

Affectionate Disposition—Peter McProssen of Homestead is affected with a peculiar mania when he imbibes too freely and yesterday had an irrepressible desire to hug dummies in front of clothing stores until they were pressed out of shape and rendered useless. Officer Critchlow happened along about the time he was giving the last of a half dozen dummies a parting squeeze and placed the affectionate Peter under arrest. He was fined $1 and cost by Burgess J. Miller.

Not Regular Collectors—Charles Williams and Thomas Wright were arraigned for a hearing before Police Magistrate Bernard McKenna charged with representing themselves as officers in the house of Carrie Williams at No. 445 Water street. Both men were fined $50 with the alternative of 30 days to the workhouse. They were arrested by Police Officer Edward O'Malley. They entered the house, represented themselves as detectives and said they were going to raid the house.

McMurray Held for Robbery—E. G. McMurray, who was arrested on a charge of stealing $850 from the hotel of Phillip Fitzgibbons on Sunday morning at No. 301 Penn avenue, was held for court yesterday morning by Police Magistrate Bernard McKenna on a charge of larceny. Fitzgibbon testified that McMurray had seen him place the money in the cigar box and his wife told the magistrate that she had seen him in the hallway, at the time the robbery is supposed to have occurred. McMurray is a carpenter and says that he is from Ravenswood, W. Va. He was boarding at the Fitzgibbon hotel at the time of the robbery.

ATLANTIC CITY.

Passengers on the Schooner Yacht Pittsburgh Narrowly Escape Drowning—Landed Sinking

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 25.—(Special.)—The large sloop yacht Pittsburgh, Capt. Job Moore, narrowly escaped disaster this afternoon while returning to the inlet with a large party aboard. When off Young's pier there was a perceptible jar and several of the passengers declared that the yacht had struck some concealed obstruction. They were laughed at for their fears, but a few minutes later water was seen pouring into the cabin. Capt. Monroe instantly realized the danger and made all sail for port, while a number of the passengers assisted the crew in bailing out the water.

There was no semblance of a panic, although the water was gaining, and the boat reached the inlet dock in a sinking condition. The passengers safely disembarked. Investigation disclosed that a hole had been stove in the yacht's bottom. Pumpers are working on the yacht tonight, and Capt. Monroe believes the vessel will be all right by Sunday.

Secretary Shaw Expected.

Secretary of the Treasury W. S. Shaw and his family will arrive here tomorrow to spend a week at the seashore. Rooms have been engaged at the Raleigh for them.

Dances, Good and Bad.

The session of the Jewish Chautauqua summer assembly was opened today with a paper by Mrs. Jean S. Redelsheimer of New York on "A Glimpse of the Social Work of the Educational Alliance." Mrs. Redelsheimer described the allurements and dangers of the East Side district of New York, and said it is the aim of the social branch of the Educational alliance to furnish a beneficial substitute for these harmful attractions. Especial reference was made to the degrading influence of the so-called "dancing academies." She did not condemn dancing, but heartily approved of it under proper conditions and surroundings.

BURGLARS STOLE DIAMONDS.

Capt. J. M. Clark's Home Robbed of Jewelry at New Castle.

NEW CASTLE, PA., July 25.—(Special.)—Burglars were active last night and secured several hundred dollars' worth of diamonds. They fared best at the home of Capt. J. M. Clark, chief of the bureau of statistics at Harrisburg. Mrs. Clark lost her wedding ring, a diamond cluster ring and three other valuable set rings, a gold watch and jewels of Miss Mary Clark, as well as other jewels which have been family heirlooms for several generations. About $15 was also taken.

The store of Davis Brothers of Grant street was robbed and many groceries were carried off. The burglars secured entrance by crashing a large plate glass window.

Gen. Corbin at the Races.

CLEVELAND, July 25.—Gen. and Mrs. Corbin arrived here from Washington today and are the guests of Senator and Mrs. Hanna. This afternoon the visitors occupied the Hanna box at the Cleveland Driving park. Gen. Corbin will look over proposed sites for the new military post on the shore of Lake Erie

PRICES OF MEAT WILL JUMP AGAIN IN A FEW DAYS

Trust Preparing for Another Advance Over Present Record Figures.

CORN SHORTAGE EXCUSE

The Prices for Meats Have Been Advanced More Than 10 Per Cent All Around Since May—Vegetables Much Higher Than Usual.

Once again the beef trust is preparing to push up prices of meat. The present prices have established a high-water mark, but with the reported shortage of the corn crop as an excuse the trust agents, are preparing a new price list that will force retailers to ask their customers one cent more per pound at least.

The meat, poultry, eggs, vegetable and fruit prices at the local markets and stalls yesterday remained about the same as on the day previous, but it seems to be the general opinion of the dealers that the price of meat will advance considerably within the next few days. The prices for ribs and loins and choice cuts of beef are at least 3 cents higher than in May, and a prominent butcher in the market said that 22 cents retail was only a fair price for the reason that the corn, upon which native cattle are fed, is now 65 cents, as compared with 35 cents, the former prevailing price.

"Cattle are scarce, anyhow," said the representative of one of the large Chicago houses, "and we have today received a telegram from the home office informing us that unless better prices are assured no more native cattle will be shipped here. The shortage of corn and of the crops generally is entirely to blame for the scarcity of good cattle, and until the grain raisers, who are holding back their grain for big prices, send it to market the cattle raisers will be unable to feed their poor cattle as they should be fed to make good beef. I look for a further rise in prices shortly, unless the present conditions change."

Prices Exorbitant.

The buyer for one of the largest downtown hotels, in speaking of the situation, said:

"It was only six or seven years ago that 9 cents was considered a big price for a carcass, and now they are fully 25 per cent higher. All meats I find to be at least 10 per cent higher than in May, when so much of an outcery was made by the public; vegetables are higher than they have been for years, but they are a little cheaper today than a few days ago, and I think they are coming down in price; butter and eggs are also high. The butter is high for the reason that the excessive rains have interfered with the nutriment for the cows. The wet spring and early summer weather, however, have not had much effect upon the fruit and vegetables and the markets have a good supply.

"In making my purchases today I paid as follows: Loins of beef, 22c; ribs, 19c; sirloin steak, 20c; porterhouse, 24c; pork chops, 15c; chickens, 25c; fowl, 16 and 17c; turkey, 18c; boiled ham, 14c; eggs, 23c; butter, 25c; lard, 12c; corn (home grown), $1.75 a bushel; potatoes, $2 a barrel; cantaloupes, $1 a basket."

Vegetables More Moderate.

"Prices for vegetables are somewhat more moderate than they were a few days ago," said a restaurant keeper, who buys a fairly good supply, although not so large as the hotel man quoted, "but they are higher than they were two or three years ago. Think of corn having been $2 10 one week ago and still selling at $1 50 and $1 75; tomatoes are $1 25 a basket. If they can be had at all; lettuce 50c a dozen; potatoes (decreasing in price), 95c a bushel; cucumbers, 50c a dozen, and radishes (which should be 40c a dozen) are 65c. Fruit is about the same as usual, except watermelons, which are higher than for about 10 years, selling at 35c each instead of 20c, and it is difficult to get good ones even at that price. Cantaloupes, of the best, range from $2 75 to $3 a crate."

Fish, too, has gone away up, and rules at 10c and 11c a pound, or 3c a pound higher than usual. At retail prices steaks are 20c; rib roast, 18c and 19c; round steak (formerly 10c), 15c, and other meats in the same proportion. One great push upward by the trust is in the price of boneless ham from 17c to 22c, and this price we are compelled to pay for the reason that Armour & Co. have a monopoly on it."

Is a Monopoly.

"The price of meat in this city," said another dealer, "is regulated by a board of dealers, representing the large western packers, and they have the butchers and retailers here firmly by the throat. These retailers and butchers are compelled to charge the high prices they do or go out of business altogether. This board meets every Tuesday night at a certain downtown hotel and all the affairs of the combination are talked over. According to the rules of the combine, butchers and retailers must pay their bills every Tuesday before 4 o'clock in the afternoon, and if the bill is not paid at that time the dealer must so report at the meeting in the evening and place the bill on the table for the inspection of every member. Then the delinquent must pay cash to every dealer, if he wants further supplies, until he has settled the bill in full, or perhaps they may decide not to sell to him at all. If any dealer violates this regulation he is liable to a fine of $1,000 for each and every case."

OUR NATIONAL DISEASE

Caused by Coffee.

Physicians know that drugs will not correct the evils caused by coffee, and the only remedy is to stop drinking it.

Dr. W. J. Allison, of Heber, Ark., says: "I have been a coffee drinker for 50 years and have often thought that I could not live without it, but after many years of suffering with our national malady, dyspepsia, I attributed it to the drinking of coffee, and after some thought, determined to use Postum Food Coffee for my morning drink. I saw that Postum was made carefully with directions, and found it just suited my taste. At first I used it only for breakfast, but I found myself getting so much better that I used it at all meals, and I am pleased to say that it has entirely cured me of indigestion. I gained 19 pounds in four months and my general health is greatly improved.

"I must tell you of a young lady in Illinois. She had been in ill health for many years, the vital forces low, with but little pain. I wrote her of the good that Postum did me and advised her to try it. At the end of the year she wrote me that Postum had entirely cured her, and that she had gained 40 pounds in weight and felt like herself again."

CHAMPION OF THE WORLD

Frank Sherman
Champion Pool Player.

Frank Sherman, National Hotel, Washington, D. C., is Champion Pool Player of the world, defeating De Oro, the former world's champion pool player, by a score of 150 to 101. The following letter was recently received by the Peruna Medicine Co., of Columbus, Ohio:

"I have suffered for years with a distressing case of catarrh. I have tried everything which was prescribed and advertised for that trouble, but experienced no relief until I tried Peruna. This invaluable medicine has eradicated all traces of that pernicious disease, and I wish to add my testimony in favor of the virtues of Peruna to all who may be suffering as I once was." FRANK SHERMAN.

Congressman Pelham, of Virginia.

Ex-Congressman C. Pelham, of Bancroft, Va., writes:

"My sister-in-law has been suffering from catarrh of the throat for a considerable time. She has been using Peruna for about one week, and is manifestly improved. I believe it is an excellent remedy for catarrh."

C. PELHAM.

A CURABLE DISEASE.

Chronic Catarrh Is Pronounced Curable by Dr. Hartman.

There are almost countless numbers of remedies said to cure chronic catarrh. The most of these are of no use whatever, and worse than useless, being actually harmful. A few are successful in a small number of cases—those which are very slight and easily curable—cases which might perhaps get well by simply taking care not to catch cold again.

But of all the vast multitudes of medicines it cannot be said that there are more than two or three which are actually specifics and without doubt the most reliable is Peruna. It always cures when faithfully and conscientiously used. It not only cures catarrh of the head and throat, but catarrh of the stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels, bronchial tubes, lungs, and in fact any of the organs of the human body.

It is indeed a dreadful case of catarrh, wherever located, that Peruna cannot cure, or at least greatly help. It may be procured at all the drug stores and it should be given a fair trial by those who have tried in vain elsewhere to get relief.

A book on catarrh and catarrhal diseases of 64 instructively illustrated pages will be sent free to any address by The Peruna Medicine Co., of Columbus, O.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O.

R·I·P·A·N·S

I suffered for six years with indigestion, and never found any relief at the doctor's hands, and spent much money trying to get cured. If I ate anything that did not agree with me I felt as if my life was being pressed out of me and always felt as if I wanted to vomit. One day, while suffering greatly from a severe attack, a friend advised me to try Ripans Tabules. I bought a small package, and to my intense surprise I was a little relieved after I had taken them, and I continued to take them, and in the course of four months was perfectly cured.

TWELVE PAGES.

The Only Connection.

Ever recurring is the refrain that municipal business has been delayed by "the ripper legislation." So it has. But the delays are chargeable solely to the element in power prior to the enactment of the "ripper" and which was restored to control by the despicable act of Governor Stone. That element defeated in February by the people and discredited has done nothing since but obstruct the course of legislation, impede the progress of public improvements and neglect the public safety. No doubt all this may be referred to the "ripper" legislation as the beginning of the public determination to be rid of the corrupt machine. There is no other way, however, in which the "ripper" can be connected with the delay of public work.

Open Light Unauthorized.

Testimony of Superintendent Robinson and Engineer Moore of the fatal Johnstown mine indicates their belief that orders concerning the use of naked lights were disobeyed. Engineer Moore declared his conviction that the gas was fired by a naked lamp. Superintendent Robinson only knew he had issued positive orders against the use of anything except safety lamps in the section where the explosion occurred. Unfortunately John Retallick, the fire boss over that immediate section, is dead. His one expression of opinion was in an interview with a Gazette reporter. He then ascribed the accident to the firing of a blast, showing that he had no knowledge of any open lamps in the working. Mr. Retallick was an authority upon mine gases and a careful man, so it is not to be supposed he would sanction any doubtful practice.

It is expected the mine inspectors will advance their theory today, with reasons in support of it. They may throw new or additional light upon the subject. But it is not probable they will assume, as some have done, that the mine officials should have known an explosion was imminent. They know enough of actual mine work to understand that such disasters nearly always happen when least expected.

The Ready Pistol.

Magistrate Hunneshagen, of Allegheny, will be generally commended for the prompt punishment inflicted upon a young man brought before him yesterday morning, charged with flourishing a loaded pistol recklessly and threatening to shoot members of his family. The serious nature of the offense, according to the magistrate, lay in the fact that the young man habitually carried a loaded revolver about his person in violation of the law. The heavy fine imposed should inspire other members of the minor judiciary who may by the infliction of similar penalties whenever the opportunity is offered contribute largely toward breaking up the increasingly dangerous practice of carrying concealed weapons. It is rarely that a private citizen needs to go about armed. Possession of a weapon is prima facie evidence of an intent to commit a breach of the peace and the law should be sternly invoked wherever the evidence is sufficient to prove the offense.

It does not require recent history to confirm the connection between the crime of murder and the habit of carrying concealed weapons. That has been established over and over. But despite these warnings and despite the plain law on the subject the habit seems to be increasing rather than diminishing.

The Business Situation.

The leading incidents of the week were more of a financial than of a commercial or industrial nature. For the first time since early last April Europe called upon the United States for gold, and about $2,750,000 of the metal was exported to Paris. The movement at this season is not unusual. Last year between April and July we exported about $20,000,000. Within this period this year we have not only not exported any gold until this week, but the New York banks have gained about $14,500,000 new gold received from domestic mines and from Alaska.

Bankers hold different opinions as to whether the present belated movement will be large or small. Conditions seem to favor a large movement. Early this spring and summer this country was a large borrower in the Paris market. This borrowing was set down for account of Wall street operators. At the same time our exports of cotton and breadstuffs fell off, and lately our imports of iron have been increasing, owing to the inability of domestic manufacturers to obtain supplies. In addition to all this Europe has been selling our securities on the advancing market, and finally, France is about to convert about $1,300,000,000 of 3½ per cent rentes into 3s. Naturally the French government will desire to promote easy monetary conditions at home, and in this effort will be aided by the Bank of France, which has been steadily accumulating gold. Even a large draft upon our supplies, however, would cause none of the uneasiness which was felt a few years ago, and the only effect would be to temporarily reduce the supply of loanable funds at the command of stock market operators.

A prominent incident of the week was the revival of speculation in the stock market, the dealings averaging the largest since early in the year, and prices advancing to a higher level than that attained just preceding the Northern Pacific deal last year. The fact that the largest advance has been in shares that already commanded a premium of from 50 to 75 per cent naturally creates the impression that important negotiations are pending in the railroad world. It is unreasonable to suppose that if the large financial interests now in control of the market are speculating merely for the pleasure and excitement of the thing, they would confine their operations almost exclusively to the highest grade of railway securities. In any event, there are as yet no signs of any bitter contest for control of any particular system of transportation, such as precipitated the crash of May last year, and, although speculative values appear to be reaching a dangerous plane, the public is not interested to the extent it was a year ago, and would not, therefore, be injured by a severe reaction.

Grain markets are in an abnormal position. Yesterday July oats sold in Chicago at 72 cents a bushel, or on a parity with September wheat, and 11 cents a bushel over September corn. There is nothing in agricultural conditions to justify the price, crop reports being generally favorable, and it is only possible by reason of the fact that speculative cliques have sold more oats and corn than can be delivered within the time specified in the contracts.

Very little progress was made during the week toward a resumption of mining in the anthracite coal region, and as a consequence there has been a further advance in the price of hard coal in the east, and an abnormal degree of activity in the bituminous coal fields which are endeavoring to furnish the deficiency in the supply of anthracite. There is a seasonable degree of activity in mercantile circles, and railroad earnings show an enormous distribution of merchandise all over the country.

Capt. Rosehill's Island.

The little island of Marcos, a mere dot in the Pacific ocean, about 800 miles south of Yokohama and a somewhat shorter distance north of Guam, may cause a little dispute between the United States and Japan. Marcos is a guano island, and it has been the policy of this country to permit its citizens to annex islands with deposits of guano for the purpose of carrying away and marketing that valuable commodity. As long ago as 1889 Capt. Rosehill landed at Marcos and put up a notice announcing that the island was his. He nailed the stars and stripes to a cocoanut tree and went home. He neglected to file a bond at the state department at the time, and it was as recently as last March that he was notified by the government that his discovery would be recognized if he would file a bond for $50,000. This he did, and not long ago started for his island to realize on his guano.

In Capt. Rosehill's absence the government of Japan decided that Marcos would be a worthy addition to the Mikado's empire, and notified Washington of its claim. At present a Japanese cruiser is headed toward Marcos, and so is Capt. Rosehill. The cruiser carries a letter from the American government instructing Rosehill not to clash with the Japanese. When he receives that letter he will be surprised, for he no doubt regards his title as perfect. It may prove to be so, but the dispute is likely to cause protracted negotiations. The settlement may depend ultimately on whether Capt. Rosehill's rights of discovery were vitiated by his long absence or his neglect to file a bond, and whether the Japanese found any evidence of American occupation on their arrival.

Makes a Good Beginning.

Senor de Ojeda, the new Spanish minister, has arrived in this country, and in an interview has made some very plain and flattering statements concerning the attitude of his home government toward the United States. Senor de Ojeda is the first representative from Spain to reach Washington since the conclusion of the late war with that country, and accepting his views as representing the feeling of the Spanish government the wounds of that struggle have been wholly removed. Spain now only seeks to cultivate our friendship and establish relations of the most cordial character. Referring to the late war the Spanish minister is quoted as having said:

> The feeling in Spain for the United States is one of great cordiality. The recent war was only a parenthesis in our relations, and the cloud it caused will soon be spent. Even while it raged the feeling in Spain against America could hardly be termed bitter. It was not a national war in the accepted term; there was not the intense national feeling that would have developed had the contest been with one of Spain's hereditary foes, or if the invasion of our country by the American forces had taken place. The war was, in fact, made necessary by dignity and brought to an issue conditions we had long regarded as inevitable. Therefore, our people were, in a measure, prepared for the sacrifices we had to make and for the disasters that came.
>
> This sounds well, and if its cordial tone is somewhat more in accord with diplomatic friendliness than with the facts of history, the people of the United States will be ready to receive the new minister upon the terms he thus lays down. Spain's position among the nations is not a strong one, due largely to her own neglect of resources which if not ample are at least sufficient to make her prosperous and happy. If by the help and encouragement of the United States her trade relations may be helped and strengthened we are sure this government will not be slow to meet half way the cordial feeling that is given voice by her representative at Washington.

Sea Duty for Naval Officers.

On general principles Secretary Moody's idea that all naval officers ought to do their share of sea duty is an excellent one, although it meets with disapproval from some officers of the navy who have enjoyed snug berths ashore. Several of Uncle Sam's mariners of rank look with so much disfavor on the secretary's plan that they have handed in their resignations, so averse are they to sea duty, thus compelling the United States government to struggle along without their services. One of these officers, in 25 years' naval experience, has served only 10 years and 3 months at sea.

The reason for the new order of things in the navy lies in the fact that there are not enough officers to man the ships already in commission, and the authorized increase in the number of cadets at Annapolis will not keep the supply of officers up to the increasing demand. With the approval of the President, it is Secretary Moody's intention to enforce the policy of compelling officers to perform their regular tours of sea duty. The plan will release from shore work about sixty officers now detailed for duty as inspectors.

There are many "soft berths," both in the army and navy, filled by men who are so fortunate as to possess influence of one sort and another. The ideal system would require every officer to perform his share of foreign duty if in the army, and of sea duty, if in the navy, and no more. Favoritism which places some men in easy positions works injustice to other officers, who thus are burdened with more than their share of the unpleasant duties of their rank.

There is no cessation of sensational stories about King Edward's illness, in the hope that some of them may prove true and entitle the publisher to a claim of exclusive advance news. But the most ludicrous thing in this line is the boastful claim of a local contemporary that because it printed a story that the king had a serious "throat trouble" on the day the operation for perityphlitis was performed it had a "beat" on the news. In medical circles perityphlitis is not classed as a throat disease.

BURGLARS' NEST MAY SOLVE RIDDLE

Police Seeking for Connection Between Their Discovery and Latimers.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, July 25.

Everybody hopes heartily that the discovery of a burglars' nest in Long Island City will lead to the solving of the "Latimer mystery," as it has come to be known. The police have caught some burglars; that is established. Whether they are the burglars, one of whom shot Albert Latimer in the presence of his wife in his Brooklyn home three weeks ago, is the question the police are trying to answer. The officers found one of the burglars arrested had a head and feet which fitted the cap and "sneak shoes" found in the Latimer home. They also came across false beards and mustaches, with a complete theatrical "make-up" box. All these are indications which may or may not lead to something important. If the men arrested are burglars, it is not remarkable that they should have tools of their trade in their possession. As for the accident of one of the prisoners being able to wear the cap and "sneak shoes" comfortably, it may be said that there are many exemplary men whom the things would fit equally well. It is not settled yet whether Latimer was killed by a burglar at all, although the police have held to that theory pretty steadily. If he was, these may not be the burglars, although it is unfortunate for them that, being in the midnight marauding business, they have been arrested and must prove their innocence. It is a rather terrifying thing to the people of Greater New York to know that burglaries are very common, and that housefuls of burglars can be turned up by the police as easily as seems to be the case now. Whether a burglar killed Albert Latimer or not, there is no doubt that a great deal of house-breaking is happening in different parts of Greater New York, particularly in Brooklyn. Only one murder has been reported of late, that of Latimer; but the burglar scare is a severe one, nevertheless.

Flushing Crusade on Mosquitoes.

Residents of Flushing, Long Island, have taken up with a will the work of reducing the numbers of mosquitoes around them. They have appointed a committee to consider means to reduce or exterminate the "critters," and the committee, of course, rushes into print with a long circular telling what they mean to do and how they will do it. The circular begins modestly: "It must not be supposed that the committee will undertake to exterminate all the mosquitoes on Long Island. It is proposed to deal with those around us. These we expect materially to reduce in numbers. We do not expect to drain every puddle, only as many as possible. Our motto is, 'No stagnant water.'" This is very good of the Flushing committee. If mosquitoes are cleaned out of every other place on Long Island as well as it is intended to do it at Flushing, why, the perky little culex won't have much chance for mischief anywhere on the island.

Two Pittsburghers' European Tour.

Mrs. Albert G. Jackson of Pittsburgh, accompanied by her daughter, Miss Bessie, and her son, Master Bert, will sail on the Red Star liner, Kronland, from this port tomorrow for Europe. They will go to London for a short stay and then to Paris, where they expect to remain a year. Mr. Jackson is in New York to see them safely embarked.

Improvement of the Docks.

It looks as if something at last were to be done toward the radical improvement of the shore front of New York along the North river. The dock department intends to spend $12,000,000 for the purpose, and all it is waiting for is the consent of the war department. A hearing was held today before the New York harbor line board, and the report of the board will be forwarded to Washington, where Secretary Root will take up the matter on his return from Europe. The plan of the dock department is a series of 800-foot piers from Canal to Thirtieth street on the North river. It is apparent to any casual observer that the accommodation for big ships is entirely inadequate. So many leviathans have been built in the past few years and so many more are to be constructed that piers at which they can receive and discharge their cargoes, human and otherwise, must be built. The old arrangements are not equal to modern demands. That is the situation in a nutshell.

McAuliffe Mystery Perpetuated.

It has been decided by Justice Mayer of the court of special sessions that James McAuliffe, who was expected to be an important witness against Wardman Glennon, came to his death after his arrest. For a long time there was grave suspicion that the police had done him to death in a police station, and several witnesses came forward to prove it. It happened that these witnesses were persons whose credibility was open to question, and Justice Mayer today said plumply that they were not to be believed. This leaves the McAuliffe case open. He was killed, says the court, but who killed him has not yet come out. Inasmuch as the only persons hitherto suspected are in the police department, it is likely that the McAuliffe mystery will continue a mystery to the end of time.

Plenty of Backers for Fitz.

The big fight in San Francisco was the main topic of conversation in hotel corridors tonight. As the difference of time between the east and west makes the time of beginning the battle later than usual, there was nothing to interfere with speculation as to the result all through the evening, and many bets were placed. In spite of the general impression that Jeffries had an easy thing of it, there were plenty of backers of "Fitz" in the west corridor of the Waldorf, as well as about other uptown hotels were men love to congregate and talk about matters generally interesting to the average male American.

Last of an Old Horse Car Line.

Electric cars are running perseveringly in Ninth avenue, where only a few weeks ago old-fashioned horse cars plugged along. The change from horse to electric power has been made with marvelous celerity. The road is not completed, for at Twenty-third street there is a long stretch of chaos where the tracks should be and passengers are transferred from one car to another with a block or two of muddy walking between. Still, the fact that there are some electric cars in Ninth avenue, gives joy to the New Yorker whose business necessities take him to that part of the city. Those old horse cars were among the slowest things in the city.

Minstrelsy for the Soldiers.

"Military day by the sea" has been arranged by the managers of Primrose & Dockstader's minstrels for tomorrow. The Twenty-third regiment of Brooklyn will go to Manhattan Beach in a body and attend the minstrel show in the evening. The soldiers will add to the festivities by holding a dress parade, and, with happy appropriateness, take dinner in the fireworks pavilion.

Waif Claimed to Be 110 Years Old.

An old woman was found wandering about New York streets last night and she told the police she was 110 years old. She was taken to Bellevue hospital, where this morning her daughter claimed her. The young woman said that here mother actually was 86 years old, but with that peculiar vanity in her advanced years, so often noticed in very old people, the mother still insisted that she was really 110. Anyhow, she was too old to take care of herself at night in the metropolis, and the daughter was warned to take care of her in future.

Electricity Dangerous to Elevators.

Another of those all to common elevator accidents took place in the city today. It was in East Forty-second street, and there were a score of young women stenographers and cashiers in the cage at the time. It dropped four stories, and although no one was seriously injured, the young women lost all appetite for luncheon, to which they had been on their way. The grounding of an electric current was given as the cause of this particular accident. The ways of electricity are an uncertain quantity, and persons in charge of electric elevators probably will feel that this grounding vagary should receive watchful attention forthwith.

Devery's Campaign of Charity.

"Big Chief" Devery is keeping up his political campaign in the Ninth district. He has enlisted women in his cause, by setting them to finding out what families need help, and attending to their wants. Grocers, butchers and bakers around the famous "pump" at Twenty-eighth street and Eighth avenue, extending several blocks in each direction, have been instructed to give people in the district what food they require, charging it to Devery. The campaign is not quite so pyrotechnical as it was in the opening days, but it is pushing along in a business-like way, and the chief feels sure that he will be chosen leader of the district by the faithful and unterrified. Whether he can make his way to the leadership of Tammany hall, none of his friends will predict; but he is certainly playing the Lord Bountiful to a large community of the chronically hard-up.

The Tiger Growls Over a Juicy Bone.

Tammany is still fighting over the public treasury, even though it is on the wrong side of the municipal fence. The latest row has been caused by the appointment of Rollin T. Morgan to be referee in lunacy, an office which carries with it an income of about $30,000 a year. The incumbent has very little to do for his money, too. No wonder the hordes of Tammany are mad about it. It is the cheerful way of the Tammanyite to find fault with any distribution of patronage in which he does not share largely, and Mr. Morgan, no doubt, expected that there would be a great deal of yelping when he got this nice fat job. It is charged by the braves that John F. Carroll, formerly Richard Croker's Fidus Achates, was instrumental in getting the place for Morgan, and they all have their tomahawks out for it. Carroll said he had nothing to do with it, and Morgan—he smiles and says nothing.

Comedian Graham's Third Wedding.

Robert E. Graham, a comedian very well known in Pittsburgh, who has been playing the part of the "Millionaire" in "Florodora" since the American opening of that successful piece, was married today for the third time. His bride was Miss Lydia Hedman of Anna Held's "Little Duchess" company. Mr. Graham is best remembered in Pittsburgh in the old days as "Knickerbocker" in "The Little Tycoon."

Wilder at Home Again.

Marshall P. Wilder is home from London. He went there shortly before the date fixed for the coronation of King Edward, and if that monarch had not been taken ill no doubt the "entertainer of princes" would have had a royal audience. As it was, the season was very flat and Marsh decided that it would be more profitable to come home. The familiar blue flag, with the humorist's monogram in gilt, waves from his fifth-story window at the corner of Thirty-third street and Broadway again, and it makes a pleasant feature of the metropolitan atmosphere at that point. Marsh is going on the road in a week or two, to fill vaudeville engagements. He is always in demand in that way, and there is no trick king on this side of the ocean to interfere with his business.

Reggie's Reported Betrothal.

Much interest is manifested here in the report that Reginald C. Vanderbilt is engaged to marry Miss Kathleen Neilson, daughter of Mrs. Frederic Neilson. The formal announcement of an engagement has not been made, but it is believed that it will very soon. Miss Neilson is an unusually pretty girl, besides being of a lively disposition and highly accomplished. As for Reggie, he is one of the boys of the swell set in New York, and every clubman and man about town knows him. It is said that his mother, Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, does not look with favor upon the possible alliance; but the Vanderbilt boys have a way of pleasing themselves matrimonially (the case of young Cornelius Vanderbilt being the most spectacular example), and it is believed that if Reggie will, he will—provided the young lady is agreeable.

Battle Painter Back from Santiago.

Verestchagin, the famous painter of battle scenes, returned to New York from Santiago today on the steamer Seguranca. He has been making studies of San Juan hill for his painting of the fight at that place for President Roosevelt.

Chicago Gets the Tunnel Fever.

Chicago has sent a bevy of its aldermen to New York to study the rapid transit subway system. The delegation called at City hall, but the mayor was having his own troubles at a meeting of the board of estimate and did not see the visitors. They went down into the tunnel at different points and made close observations of the way the work is done. The chairman of the committee, Frank Bennett, said that Chicago hopes to have a subway system in its business section, with part of it under the river. So the river tunnel idea evidently is infecting the west as well as the east.

A Queer World.

From the Baltimore American.

"It's a queer world," said the highbrowed individual, laying down his newspaper.

"Here is one item stating that in California a stranger walked into a bank and wanted to buy the concern, and they called the police and had him sent to an insane asylum. And there is another item that in New York another man walked into the office of a big railroad and said that he wanted to buy it, and they began figuring right away on how much they would lose and how much he would make."

PRINCE OF MONACO MADE ADMIRAL

Another Action of Kaiser Wilhelm That Excites Public Comment.

By the MARQUISE DE FONTENOY.

Prince Albert of Monaco has just been appointed by Emperor William an honorary admiral of the German navy, and the continental comic papers are making fun in a most disrespectful fashion of this remarkable addition to the marine forces of the German empire, most of them suggesting that either his new flag or his new uniform should be adorned with something to recall the fact that he derives his revenues from the public gambling concerns in which he has farmed out his principality.

Until now the prince of Monaco has been the only reigning sovereign of Christendom who has not been accorded honorary military or naval rank by his brother sovereigns. They are all colonels, generals, field marshals or admirals in one another's armies and navies. The prince of Monaco alone has been without any other foreign distinction than that of honorary captain in the Spanish army, which was obtained for him by old Queen Isabella from the late King Alfonso in recognition of the fact that as a lad he had received a portion of his education as a cadet in the Royal Naval academy at Cadiz and subsequently on board a Spanish training ship.

Curiously enough the emperor of Germany, who professes such a horror for gambling, and who has turned many great nobles and members of princely families out of his army precisely because they were addicted to gambling, has developed a most remarkable friendship and sympathy for the prince of Monaco, popularly known as the "Prince Rouge et Noir," who seems to have managed to interest the kaiser in an altogether uncommon degree by means of his labors in connection with explorations.

The prince of Monaco has recently been the guest of the kaiser at Kiel, and it was on the occasion of this visit that he was appointed an admiral in the German navy.

There is no truth, however, in the story published in some of the European papers—obviously as a bit of sarcasm—to the effect that the prince of Monaco has by way of return compliment nominated the kaiser to the rank of field marshal of the Monaco army, which consists exactly of 48 men and 10 officers.

Sultan Cuts Off Titles.

The sultan has issued a decree which he has charged his envoys to communicate to foreign courts and governments, by the terms of which he prohibits his two nephews, the sons of Mahmoud Pasha, from styling themselves "Princes" and deprives them at the same time of the title and rank of "Bey" or colonel, which they have until now enjoyed. As I have already pointed out some time ago their use of the title of "Prince" is a piece of unwarrantable assumption. For although their mother is a sister, or rather half-sister of the sultan, yet their father, Mahmoud, is a mere pasha, who was formerly minister of justice at Constantinople. They are therefore in no sense of the word princes of the blood.

It may be remembered that they fled with their father some two or three years ago from Constantinople, fearing imprisonment, and exile, and have ever since been living abroad, mostly in France, conducting a vigorous campaign against the sultan and taking a leading part in the intrigues of the so-called Young Turkey party, which have for their object the deposition of Abdul Hamed and the restoration to the throne of his elder brother, ex-Sultan Murad.

To What Base Uses.

Old Premier Crispi was all his life long such a bitter foe of the church, of the papacy and of religious orders that the disposition of his remains is to say the least curious. They are in that world-famed Capucine monastery at Palermo, where thousands upon thousands of monks and Sicilian dignitaries of the church, and a few celebrated Sicilian statesmen and great nobles are preserved in a mummified condition, uncoffined and exhibited for the inspection of the curious who visit this species of Sicilian pantheon. Many of the mummies hang suspended by nails and hooks from the walls. It seems that Crispi's process of mummification is not yet quite complete, but that it promises to prove a wonderful success, and that when two or three months hence his corpse will be in a condition to admit of its being hung up and placed on exhibition with the rest, it will present an extraordinarily life-like appearance, save as regards color, the mummification turning the bodies almost entirely black.

Appendicitis Centuries Ago.

Talking of mummies, I may mention that according to an Egyptian mummy of the eleventh dynasty, that is to say, dating from 3,000 years, appendicitis was a disease known and operated upon in the days of the Pharoahs, and seems to have been just as fashionable then as now. Professor Maspero, the great French authority on appendicitis, has just made this fact known in a paper read before the Academie des Sciences at Paris, in connection with the malady by which King Edward has been prostrated. I do not know whether it will afford any satisfaction to the British monarch to know that contemporaries of Joseph and of Moses in Egypt have gone through the same tortures and the same painful operation as himself, but it is certainly interesting.

Youthful Knight of Garter.

King Edward's action in conferring the Order of the Garter upon the young crown prince of Portugal on the occasion of his visit to London the other day to represent his father, King Carlos, at the coronation, has excited a good deal of comment by reason of the youth of the royal lad, for he is but 15 years of age, and not even English princes of the blood, much less foreign ones, have ever until now received the Garter until they had at any rate attained manhood and passed their eighteenth birthday. He owes this remarkable distinction, in a measure, to himself. For of all the foreign royalties who came to London for the coronation he was the one who aroused the greatest amount of sympathy and good-will on the part of the reigning house, the people at court and the public at large by his good looks, his charming manners and his sunny disposition and appearance. He became a universal favorite, so much so that Queen Alexandra and her daughters are said to have urged the king to give the boy the Garter, which was only granted to his father, King Carlos, long after he had ascended the throne.

The next knight of the Garter in point of view is the young king of Spain, who received it last May, when on his sixteenth birthday he attained his majority.

Among the other knights of the Garter are Archduke Francis Ferdinand of Austria and heir apparent to his uncle's throne; young Prince Arthur of Connaught, King Edward's nephew; the young duke of Coburg and of Albany, who is just 18 years of age; the duke of Aosta, heir apparent to the throne of Italy, and hereditary Grandduke Michael of Russia, the younger brother and heir of the czar.

Recalling an Eccentric.

The death of the old Duchess Frederick of Anhalt-Bernburg at the age of 90, sister of King Christian of Denmark, serves to recall the eccentricities of her crazy husband, in whose name she acted as regent after he had been placed under the control that lasted to his death. Among his favorite amusements was that of squirting people with water, and nothing delighted him more than when he could get hold of a fire or garden hose for the purpose. The first thing he did on succeeding to the throne was to stop short in front of the sentinel on duty at the palace gate and inform him that he was promoted then and there to the rank of colonel, just as he explained it afterwards, to enjoy the feeling of exercising the powers of a sovereign.

PERSONALS.

Three years of struggle in the gold-mine region of British Columbia were recalled at Newell's yesterday, when O. F. Switzer of Philipsburg, Pa., and Joseph Armstrong of McKeesport met. Five years ago these two were members of a party of 160 that started for the Klondike. Of the whole party only 14 finally reached their destination, after a year of travel from Ft. Wrangle, Alaska. In September, 1900, word of the Philippine war reached the camp and Mr. Armstrong, who is a member of the Tenth Pennsylvania regiment, left the camp to join his command. He suffered great hardships in reaching it, but finally succeeded. Now Mr. Switzer has returned to this part of the world and the two met again yesterday. Switzer was one of a party of three from Philipsburg that went to the region. One, Dr. H. L. Carlisle, has returned, a victim of rheumatism, and the third, C. B. French, is in the Klondike. Mr. Switzer has located a claim of over 1,200 acres in the Atlin district of British Columbia, for which a wonderful future is claimed. He will return August 1, and will be accompanied by Frank G. Harris, state treasurer; Senator Charles J. Reed of New Jersey, William J. Robinson of a Philadelphia banking firm, William Siep of the Altoona Mirror and George Meek of Clearfield.

Inspections of the Buffalo & Allegheny Valley division of the Pennsylvania railroad and of the Waynesburg & Washington branch of the Panhandle were made yesterday by the railroad officials. Those in charge of the Allegheny Valley inspection were General Superintendent G. W. Creighton and Superintendent Simon D. Long. E. B. Taylor, fourth vice president of the Panhandle, had charge of the Waynesburg & Washington inspection. This is a narrow gauge line, the patrons of which have long petitioned for standard gauge. The road has been badly torn up recently by storms and it is said that the petition of the people along the line is to be granted soon.

Union station officials are still talking about the quick changes of engines that are being made at the station for the Pennsylvania Special, the 20-hour flyer between New York and Chicago, which arrives about 11 p. m. A few nights ago the train was somewhat late and the change of engines was accomplished in one minute and two seconds. The Pennsylvania railroad engine did not have time to release the air brakes before uncoupling, the brakes remaining set until the Ft. Wayne engine had coupled and released them.

THE DEATH ROLL.

Dr. Benjamin Shoemaker.

BROWNSVILLE, PA., July 25.—(Special.)—Dr. Benjamin Shoemaker died this evening, aged 82. He came to Brownsville from near Philadelphia about 1850, and since practiced here, amassing quite a comfortable competence. He was a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania and acted as physician for the Pennsylvania Railroad Company since the Monongahela division was constructed in 1881. He was a Blue Lodge Mason, of St. Omer commandery. He leaves a widow and one daughter, Mary, at home.

Daniel D. Guagey.

MEYERSDALE, PA., July 25.—(Special.)—Daniel D. Guagey, a well-known contracting builder, died this morning at his home south of town, aged 55. Besides his widow he is survived by two daughters and one son.

Obituary Notes.

Mrs. Rebecca Hamilton, 73 years old, widow of James Hamilton, died yesterday at her home, No. 1820 Western avenue, Allegheny.

Under Ground, Anyhow.

From the New York Tribune.

A certain person who figured on the register was objected to by one of the agents, on the ground that he was dead. The revising barrister declined to accept the assurance, however, and demanded conclusive testimony on the point.

Thereupon the agent of the other side rose and gave corroborative evidence as to the decease of the gentleman in question.

"And pray, sir, how do you know the man's dead?" demanded the barrister.

"Well," was the reply, "I don't know. It's very difficult to prove."

"As I suspected," returned the irate barrister. "You don't know whether he's dead or not."

The barrister glanced triumphantly around the court. His expression gradually underwent a change as the witness coolly continued:

"I was saying, sir, that I don't know whether he is dead or not, but I do know this: They buried him about a month ago on suspicion."

John Milton's Idea.

From the Philadelphia Times.

John Milton, when at school, was one of a class of boys told to write a short composition on the Biblical theme of the water turned into wine at the wedding feast of Calnan; and special reward was promised the scholar whose composition should be at once most eloquent and most brief. Milton compressed his into a single line of eight words:

"The conscious water saw its God and blushed."

THE BEST PART GONE.

It ain't no trouble now to find
The things that used to be
A-scattered round about the house,
Or hid away from me.

The paper's allus right to hand,
The tidy's on the chair,
My hat don't leave the front hall peg
'Most 'fore I hang it there.

An' everything is orderly,
An' just the way it's put.
Without a raft o' cur'us truck
A-kickin' under foot.

But when I look around the room,
An' see the chairs jus' so,
An' all the things a settin' in
The place they ought to go,

I'd give the rest o' this ol' life
If I could only see
That

LAST SERMONS UNTIL FALL BY MANY PASTORS

Those That Have Not Already Gone for Vacation, Start Soon.

PARK SERVICES GIVEN UP

The Rev. S. Edward Young Goes Away and Big Tent Will Be Used for Evangelistic Purposes—Opening of New Church Edifice.

For nearly all the pastors this will be the last Sunday in the pulpit until early in September. Those that have not gone on their well deserved vacation will go early next week. The Rev. Dr. S. Edward Young of the Second Presbyterian church has been urged by his congregation to take a few weeks' rest, and will leave Tuesday morning with Mrs. Young for Allenhurst, N. J.

The Sunday night services in Schenley park, as stated in The Gazette yesterday morning, will be abandoned until early in September. The huge tent will be used by the evangelistic committee of the presbyteries of Pittsburgh and Allegheny. For the final services in the park an excellent musical program has been arranged by Mr. Butts. A chorus of 80 voices will sing "America." Dr. Young will use the stereopticon for illustrating his sermon.

Mission Services.

In the Allegheny Reformed mission, which is in charge of the Rev. Albert C. Dieffenbach, one of the youngest ministers in the city, there will be a special farewell service. This service will have a peculiar significance to the mission, as early in the fall it is to be formed into a permanent congregation with the young minister as its permanent pastor.

Mr. Dieffenbach has recommended that the church be named the Church of the Ascension. In his sermon tomorrow Mr. Dieffenbach will speak of the great work which is before the members.

The Second United Presbyterian congregation will occupy its new church at Negley and Stanton avenues tomorrow for the first time.

The Rev. G. Bachren of Berlin, Germany, will preach tomorrow night in the Emanuel Evangelical church, West End.

Presbyterian Churches.

Society.

YESTERDAY was an ideal day at the country clubs. Golf at the Allegheny Country club, followed by the usual Friday afternoon tea, served to draw many to the handsome clubhouse and grounds on Sewickley Heights. The first of a series of garden parties at the Brighton Country club attracted many to the gaily illuminated grounds in California avenue, Allegheny, and tea and golf were attractions at the Pittsburgh Country club in the Beechwood boulevard.

The garden party at the Brighton Country club last evening, though an informal affair, was exceedingly pretty. During the afternoon there were many people on the golf links and about the tennis courts, and when the supper hour arrived the dining-room was crowded. Small tables were placed on the lawn beside the clubhouse. Electric lights hanging among the trees gleamed like will o' the wisps when darkness came. A large platform beside the clubhouse served for dancing, a military band furnishing the bright and gay music. There was little attempt at decoration within the clubhouse, though summer flowers appeared in all the rooms and adorned the supper tables.

The garden party was one of a series of subscription affairs which are to be given during the summer and autumn under the auspices of the Brighton Country club. The other three parties will take place August 22, September 19 and October 17.

Field Day on the Southside.

The second annual field day at the South Side Recreation park will be held this afternoon. Preparations have been made to entertain a large number of visitors. The South Side Recreation park was opened last summer, under the auspices of the joint committee of Women's clubs, which is conducting the summer playgrounds, and is maintained partly by the committee and largely through the generosity of South Side merchants and business men. The ground adjoins the lot on which the High school building is erected, and has been thoroughly equipped for athletics and out-door gymnastics.

The events this afternoon include a baseball game, basket ball, contests on parallel bars, jumping, running and various other contests, for which the boys have been in training for weeks. The grounds are open every day and the games are directed by the custodian. This is the only recreation park which has been secured to Pittsburgh thus far, but the joint committee contemplates others as soon as sufficient money has been secured.

Sailing for Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. James Howard Park of Fifth avenue, East End, will sail for Europe next Tuesday, on the Kronprinz Wilhelm. They go to Germany, where they will spend the greater portion of their time abroad, returning to this country about the middle of September.

Mr. and Mrs. John S. Scully of Darrah street, Oakland, have arranged to sail on the Holland line steamer Staatendam next week for Europe. They will return on the Campagnia, which is to arrive in New York September 10. Mr. and Mrs. Scully will be accompanied by their daughter, Miss Mary E. Scully, and their son, Cornelius D. Scully.

Miss Sarah Sweeney of Penn avenue and Miss MacLaughlin of Oakland will sail next Tuesday for Europe and expect to return the latter part of August.

Concerning the Fricks.

Interesting reports reach Pittsburgh of the handsome entertainments which are being given this season by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Clay Frick, in the exclusive North Shore summer colony on the Massachusetts coast. Mr. and Mrs. Frick are occupying the cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Sears of Boston, at Beverly, Mass., and are entertaining on a lavish scale. Their automobiles were sent east when the family left Pittsburgh in June, and Mr. Frick is speeding in his French machines over the excellent roads in New England. The Fricks will remain east until the last of September.

Wedding in Hazelwood.

The marriage of Miss Elizabeth McKisick and Charles W. Breen will be quietly solemnized in St. Stephen's Protestant Episcopal church, Hazelwood, on Monday, August 4. They will be at home to their friends after September 1, No. 4747 Ben Venue avenue, East End.

Smith—Yarbert.

Miss Stetler Smith, daughter of W. J. Smith of McKeesport, and Walter Yarbert of Braddock, were married in Youngstown last Thursday. They are enjoying an extended eastern trip.

Here and There.

Mrs. David A. Stewart of Lincoln avenue, Allegheny, is at her summer cottage at Conneaut Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan Johnson and their daughter, Thea, left yesterday for Atlantic City, where they will remain several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. W. Painter have reopened their cottage at Cresson, the family intending to spend the summer there, with short trips to other points.

Horace R. Moorhead, who has been spending several weeks at Magnolia, Mass., with his sister, Mrs. William J. Holland, and her boys, was in New York this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick M. Davies are staying at the Oriental, Manhattan Beach, where Mrs. Davies' parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. O'Neill, have been for several weeks.

Augustus P. Burgwin has taken a cottage at Deer Park, where Mrs. Burgwin has been for over a week. Mr. Burgwin expects to make over-Sunday trips to his family during the summer.

PRAISE FOR FADETTE'S.

Manager Fitzpatrick of Pittsburgh Exposition Is Enthusiastic Over One of Coming Attractions.

Manager T. J. Fitzpatrick of the Pittsburgh Exposition is enthusiastic over Fadette's woman's orchestra, which is to play a week's engagement at the Exposition's next big show. He says it is a high-grade organization, and for this reason occupies its field absolutely alone. Its members, including the directress, Caroline B. Nicholls, come from well-known families of the east, and have received instruction in the best conservatories, and have developed a surprisingly perfect ensemble.

For a number of years a portion of the world-famed Boston Symphony orchestra have played a 10-weeks summer engagement at Keith's theater, Boston, but this year, and for the first time, they have been replaced by Fadettes. When the woman's orchestra appears on the stage of the Exposition music hall for its first concert it will show a strength of 50 players, who for one week are to present a series of programs at once brilliant and interesting. Not to be overlooked is the picturesque stage appearance this half a hundred performers will present, each gowned in the pure white of evening dress.

SIGNED BY MURPHY.

Allegheny's Recorder Returns to Sign Ft. Wayne Elevated Track Ordinances—Work to Be Pushed.

City Recorder John R. Murphy of Allegheny yesterday returned from a visit to Mt. Clemens and signed all the ordinances passed this month by councils, including those relative to the elevation of the Pennsylvania Company's tracks in Lower Allegheny.

The recorder stated that he signed the railroad ordinances only after the stipulation regarding the right of the city to widen and enlarge the passageway and approaches to the island avenue viaduct had been agreed to and signed by Vice President J. J. Turner of the Pennsylvania Company in compliance with a resolution passed by common council at its last meeting.

Now that all the ordinances have become operative the improvements contemplated, representatives of the railway company say, will be pushed to completion as rapidly as possible.

Has Natural Gas to Burn.

Last fiscal yea, the Philadelphia Company sold 28,884,942,000 feet of natural gas to 48,284 consumers. There is a rush of non-consumers just now for gas under the special rule by which the company agrees to make connections and set meters free of charge. Experts say the company has gas enough to last 30 years. There'll be no shortage. It's the ideal fuel in this or any other weather. Doesn't heat up the house in summer and it's cheaper than coal. BEAUTY.
HOW IT CAN BE OBTAINED
How to Make a Marvelously Perfect Complexion and Restore Youthful Looks.
HOW TO REMOVE PIMPLES, FRECKLES, MOTH, BROWN PATCHES, BLACKHEADS, OILINESS AND ALL DEFECTS FROM THE FACE, NECK AND ARMS.

There is nothing more beautiful than the human face with its vivacious countenance, its sparkling eye, its pleasant smile and perfect symmetry.
But the crowning glory of the face is a radiant complexion with its lively glow, its youthful tinge, and its fine, smooth texture.
But the question is can such a complexion be attained?
In this wonderfully progressive age of art, literature and science; of the steam engine, the mighty cannon, the electric motor, the wireless telegraph and the ponderous fabric-making machines; what is there that is impossible?
By a careful study of the nature and texture of the skin, and a thorough research in the realms of chemistry and compounding of ingredients, a remedy has been at last perfected that will accomplish these results.
This remedy is Mme. A. Ruppert's Face Bleach.
WHAT FACE BLEACH IS.—Face Bleach is not a cosmetic to cover up, but it absolutely removes once and forever all the discolorations and blemishes to which the complexion is subject. I can positively guarantee every woman it will do all I claim. Its action on the skin cannot fail to remove every defect. It's a well known fact that the blood in order to cleanse itself is constantly throwing off its impurities through the pores of the skin; now if the pores are not kept open, the impurities of the blood cannot escape, but collect below the surface, and produce all manner of skin troubles, such as PIMPLES, FRECKLES, MOTH, SALLOWNESS, ECZEMA, ACNE AND NUMEROUS OTHER SKIN DISEASES AND DISCOLORATIONS.
ACTION OF FACE BLEACH.—Now Face Bleach has this two-fold action; first, it has a magnetical action, which attracts and draws to the surface the impurities which have collected beneath the skin; and, secondly, a chemical action which removes by scaling off (in the form of a fine dandruff) the surface of the outer, diseased or dead cuticle, leaving the under skin—beautiful, youthful-looking and delicately tinted by nature—clear, smooth and perfect. This method is perfectly harmless to the most delicate skin, as it harmonizes with the laws of hygiene and nature, the two factors which we must adhere to and follow if we wish to permanently improve our personal appearance.
THOUSANDS BENEFITED.—Thousands of patrons, who were annoyed and vexed with most miserable complexions, have been delighted with the grand improvement Madame Ruppert's Face Bleach has produced in their skins. Many complexions, covered with pimples, freckles and cutaneous eruptions so humiliating, burning and annoying have changed to bright, beautiful skins, and the improvements made in their looks were simply marvelous. There is scarcely a defect to which the complexion is heir which will not succumb to this wonderful remedy. Premature wrinkles and lines—those inroads of beauty—are quickly effaced, and those muddy, disfiguring, sallow, jaundiced skins are quickly transformed into clear, wholesome ones by its use. Flabby skins—which also mark the ravages of time—become firm and smooth after a few applications. Skin troubles which have baffled the most skilful physicians have been removed and cured promptly, and many have expressed, personally and by letter, their heartfelt and profoundest thanks for this wonderful Face Bleach.
A positive guaranteed is given if Face Bleach is used according to the new special directions, which are furnished with each order, that it will remove every discoloration and impurity from your complexion.
All of Mme. A. Ruppert's world renowned preparations are sold by us at reduced prices.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Philadelphia, July 25.—There is every reason to believe that there is a movement on foot to freeze Barney Dreyfuss of the Pittsburgh club out of the National league, says Frank Hough.

The disciplining of "Wid" Conroy for 20 days and the recent suspension of Hans Wagner are but the preliminary moves in the game which has for its ultimate object the retirement of the one man in the National League outfit who possesses the spirit of true sportsmanship. The scheme has been developing ever since the opening of the season, when it became manifest that Pittsburgh was bound to make a runaway race for the pennant.

Where the Trouble Started.

The punishment of Conroy was regarded as excessive by those who were familiar with the circumstances. But it was meant to be excessive. That is a part of the program, meant to irritate Dreyfuss and to goad him onto the commission of some overt act which would justify them in vacating his franchise.

One National league representative, who has been in this city off and on during the past two weeks in quest of players, unbosomed himself rather freely to Dreyfuss, although at the time he did not think there was the slightest chance of his remarks getting into print.

"Dreyfuss' strictures on the gentlemen who engineered the Baltimore coup," said he, "were, to say the least, in bad form, and he will have plenty of time to regret them. As a loyal member of the National league, it was his duty to cheerfully acquiesce in whatever was done to embarrass the American league. But the Brooklyn and the Philadelphia clubs felt the screws, and Dreyfuss will feel them before he is much older. He has been entirely too friendly in his intercourse with American league people to suit some of us. There are other men in Pittsburgh—men who have had experience in baseball—who would only be too glad to accept the Pittsburgh franchise in the National league. All this talk about the players being wedded to Dreyfuss is pure bosh. All they want is the assurance that they will get their salaries, and they will play where they may be assigned."

They Soaked Him Before.

This would not be the first time that Dreyfuss has felt the displeasure of these same gentlemen. When he was the owner of the Louisville club, he was made the victim of a most contemptible piece of short changing by his honorable copartners. A cold schedule was rung in, by which Dreyfuss was deprived of nearly all his Sundays and Saturdays at home, and all of the choice dates abroad. This cowardly piece of sharp practice nearly bankrupted the Louisville club, which was compelled to play many of its home games abroad in order to make both financial ends meet.

ANXIOUS TO GET EVEN.

Pirates Laying for the Next Two Games—Phillippe Pitches Today.

ST. LOUIS, MO., July 25.—(Special.)—The Pirates spent the day in rest and quiet preparation for the contests tomorrow and Sunday, which are expected to draw the biggest crowds of the season. They want to avoid another licking and the consequences.

The newspapers here all comment on the actions of the Pittsburgh players when it became apparent yesterday that they were up against a certain defeat. The editorial opinion is that the Pirates, while wonderful players and modest enough winners, lose with extremely bad grace. The prospect of "doings" at the games tomorow and Sunday has added as much to public interest as the fact that the Cardinals beat the Pirates twice in succession, a feat that no other team has been able to accomplish this season. If the Cardinals should again defeat the Pittsburgh aggregation tomorrow the crowd Sunday likely will tax the capacity of the ball park.

Phillippe will be called on tomorrow to repeat his performance at the beginning of the series and pitch the Pirates to victory. The absence of Wagner may necessitate some shifting of the team, but that will not be determined until tomorrow morning. After practice today some of the visitors went to Delmar park, while others viewed the varied delights of the summer gardens or turned in early, determined to get a good night's rest before the battle.

NO OFFICIAL NOTICE.

President Dreyfuss Gets Word from Clarke, but None from Brush.

President Dreyfuss stated yesterday that he had received no official notice of the suspension of Wagner, nor did he expect any, as John T. Brush seems to overlook him.

Mr. Dreyfuss said that on Thursday night when he learned Wagner was not in the game he telegraphed Manager Clarke inquiring if he wanted some player to use in Wagner's place. The telegram was answered yesterday by Manager Clarke, who said he did not know how long Wagner would be out, but the team was all right and that he did not need any new player.

Mr. Dreyfuss would not discuss the suspension of Wagner and contented himself with saying, "Let them go ahead, they can't keep us from winning the pennant."

COAT OF WHITEWASH.

The Quakers Got It—Wolverton Played Good Ball.

BOSTON, July 25.—Boston made it three straight by shutting out Philadelphia today. Hits by Greminger, Long and Morgan gave Boston three runs in the fourth that clinched the game. Fittinger had the visitors puzzle to the visitors.

Wolverton joined the Philadelphias today and played a splendid game despite his two errors. Score:

KITSON THE WHOLE SHOW.

Shut Giants Out—Struck Out Nine Batsmen—Made a Home Run.

NEW YORK, July 25.—The Brooklyn team turned the tables on the New York nine today at the Polo grounds. Pitcher Kitson made a home run for Brooklyn in the third inning. He also struck out nine New Yorkers. In the first inning New York had two men on bases and two out. Bresnahan singled, but a clever throw by Sheckard from left field caught Brodie at the plate. ### WON BY MARTIN.

Big Bob Armstrong Was Easily Outpointed.

LONDON, July 25.—The contest between Bob Armstrong and Denver Ed Martin, the American pugilists, for the colored championship of the world, which took place at Crystal palace tonight, attracted a great crowd. Armstrong started in a favorite, but his performance did not justify this, as Martin proved to be the more clever from the outset and never gave his opponent a chance, being declared an easy winner on points at the close of the 15 rounds.

Martin, it is announced, will challenge the winner of the Jeffries-Fitzsimmons fight in San Francisco tonight.

Altoona Beat Johnstown.

ALTOONA, PA., July 25.—(Special.)—In a spirited game that was filled with many brilliant features the local nine bested their most formidable competitors from Johnstown this afternoon and won a well-played contest. The visitors made a beautiful triple play, but were outfielded by the home team. Score:

WON THE RACE ANYHOW.

Queen of Dixiana Cut a Lot of Capers, but Was Game.

CHICAGO, July 25.—Queen of Dixiana, a 5-year-old maiden filly, owned by H. T. Griffith, performed the sensational feat of the local racing season in the 1326 race at Harlem today by winning easily in a field of 15 sarters after she had run away nearly a mile, thrown her jockey and cavorted about the track for 15 minutes before being captured. Although Jockey Wilkerson was stunned by the fall he insisted upon remounting and piloted his mount to victory, despite the great handicap. Queen of Dixiana was held at 10 to 1 in the betting before the runaway, after which she drifted to 50 to 1 and had scores of admirers at that figure. Three favorites and two second choices captured the other events. Weather cloudy and warm; track in good condition.

First race, six furlongs—Queen of Dixiana, 98, Wilkerson, 10 to 1, won; The Rabbit, 98, Beauchamp, 9 to 2, second; Somersault, 103, Helgesen, 9 to 1, third. Time, 1:16 1-5. Marshal See, Forum, Albert Enright, Ultrada, Howendobler, Mackey, Gum Honey, Hattie June, Lady Wentworth, Don't You Dare, Russalton and Senator Sullivan ran.

Second race, seven furlongs—Lenalin, 112, Knight, 12 to 1, won; Topsoil, 99, Buchanan, 3 to 2, second; Glendon, 112, Blake, 10 to 1, third. Time, 1:31 4-5. King Dodo and Dutch Princess ran.

Third race, six furlongs—Rose Tree, 100, Birkenruth, 8 to 5, won; Lady Idris, 99, Hoar, 50 to 1, second; A. B. Gaines, 104, Beauchamp, 6 to 1, third. Time, 1:14. Fitzkanet, Duelist, Gonfalon and Pirate's Queen ran.

Fourth race, mile—Favonius, 112, Ransch, 5 to 2, won; Brulare, 97, Beauchamp, 13 to 5, second; Sultana, 109, Coburn, 10 to 1, third. Time, 1:41 4-5. Prince of Africa, Frangible and Strangest ran.

FOUR ARE DEAD AND SIX INJURED BY XENIA WRECK

Panhandle Limited Collided With Wild Coal Car on a Grade.

VICTIMS PERISH IN FIRE

Wreckage Was Soon Ablaze and the Mail Was Completely Destroyed. Passengers Assisted in the Rescue and All Bodies Are Recovered.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Xenia O., July 25.—Four were killed and six injured in the wreck which occurred at 10:36 last night at Trebein station, three miles from here, when the Panhandle limited from St. Louis to New York, was met by a wild coal car at the foot of a heavy grade. The wreckage took fire and all but the two Pullman cars in the rear were burned.

The Dead.

WILLIAM CLARK, engineer, formerly of Xenia, now of Columbus; trunk of body and one leg found; leaves widow and three children.

PATRICK DWYER, fireman, Cincinnati.

M. M. PETERS, mail clerk, Cincinnati.

E. F. M. McKEOWN, mail clerk, Greenfield, Ind.

The Injured.

JOSEPH CONVERSE, aged 27, Elmira, N. Y.; scalp wound; not serious.

BESSIE DONOVAN, 18, Irwin, Pa.; cut about head; not serious.

WILLIAM G. FORSYTH, Indianapolis, Ind.; mail clerk; dangerously hurt.

W. A. GIFFORD, Woodstock, mail clerk; cut about head and arm; dangerously hurt.

JAMES M'FADDEN, Indianapolis; nose fractured; not serious; had a ticket for Ireland and was able to proceed.

MOLLIE COLLINS, Louisville, Ky.; head cut; not serious.

Ten or twelve people who are not included in the above list were slightly injured. Besides the postal and express cars the train consisted of a day coach and several sleepers.

In some manner the coal car became unloosened from its couplings and started down a three-mile grade, gaining velocity as it went. At the bottom of the grade it crashed into the engine of the passenger train. The coal car was smashed to splinters and the passenger engine demolished, while the postal and express cars were piled on top of it in a promiscuous heap. Almost simultaneously with the first crash the gas tanks under the cars exploded and set fire to the ruins.

An engine from Xenia was hurried to the scene and two Pullmans that remained safely on the track were hauled to a place of safety, serving for the time being as a refuge for the less seriously wounded.

The badly injured were taken to Xenia, where not only the hotels but private houses were opened for their accommodation. The others were later taken to Columbus to resume their journeys. The engineer, William Clark of Columbus, was buried beneath his engine and his body was burned to ashes. His fireman, William Dwyer of Cincinnati, was horribly mangled, but was thrown clear from the engine.

The uninjured passengers rendered all possible assistance and rescued many from the debris before the fire broke out and drove them back to be helpless witnesses of the cremation of those who were pinioned beneath the wreck.

To Clarence Kindall, treasurer of a distilling company at Trebein, is given credit for averting a second collision. Knowing that a fast freight was approaching, he telephoned George Barr, a Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton agent, who could reach the Pennsylvania tracks, to flag the freight. Barr, by fast sprinting, succeeded in this effort.

The officials of the Pennsylvania railroad declare that no more bodies remain beneath the wreck and that four is the correct number of dead.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 25.—The postoffice department received an official dispatch this afternoon reporting that all the mail carried by the wrecked train is destroyed.

FIVE KILLED.

Train Wrecked by a Washout in Arizona. Coach Crushed.

TUCSON, ARIX., July 25.—Five persons were killed and a number injured in a wreck yesterday near Ilano, 70 miles South of Nogales, on the Sierra railroad.

The northbound international train was derailed by a washout and the engine, baggage car, two passenger cars and a Pullman sleeper toppled over an embankment. The baggage car and one passenger coach were smashed to kindling wood, but the first-class coaches and the Pullman escaped with little injury.

The killed and seriously injured were all in the second-class coach.

GOLFERS HAVE GOOD PROGRAM FOR TODAY

McVay Cup to Be Played for at Edgeworth—Competition at Country Club for Schenley Trophy.

Pittsburgh golf enthusiasts will have enough to keep them busy today, with regular events on four of the courses and preparations for golf ball sweepstakes on nearly all the others.

By a change of program decided on yesterday the Edgeworth course will have competition for the Mrs. C. B. McVay cup, under conditions entirely new to the local district. The handicap contests of 18-hole medal play were originally to be held once a month, and the first was won last Saturday by Christy Payne. After today's play those handicap medal play events are to be held every two weeks, the winner of each meeting the last victor in an 18-hole match. This procedure continues until some contestant wins the cup three times. Payne does not have to compete in today's contest, but must meet the maker of today's lowest net score in match play next Saturday. Another medal contest, providing a new runner up, will be held two weeks from today.

One of the busiest of the local courses today will be that of the Pittsburgh Country club, where many players from other local clubs will compete for the handsome Hotel Schenley trophy, won last time by Robert Pitcairn, Jr. It must be captured three times for possession.

On the Logans Ferry course of the Westmoreland Country club an 18-hole handicap for the W. H. Nimick trophy will be decided.

On the course of the Allegheny Country club, back of Sewickley, there will be an interesting 18-hole handicap tournament for a subscription cup, purchased with the entrance fees of the contestants. Many local golfers are now residing at the country club, where many players from other Handicap sweepstakes are planned for the Highland and Edgewood courses.

NEW CLUB IS SOON TO BE OPENED

WILL BE LOCATED ON TOP FLOOR OF THE FRICK BUILDING.

Desire of Projectors Is That New Organization Be Thoroughly Representative of Pittsburgh Social, Professional, Financial and Commercial Life.

Besides the new Monongahela club, which is to have its quarters in the top floors of the new building of the Peoples Savings bank, at Wood street and Fourth avenue as The Gazette described in its issue of last Tuesday, Pittsburgh is to have another new club, and it is to top over all others, as it will be on the upper floor of the Frick building. The name is to be the Union club. William A. Carr has been chosen by the projectors as chairman of the membership committee, and he has his headquarters at room No. 1922 of the big building.

The Union club is at present in a very embryotic condition, as it has hardly reached a secondary stage. Really, it is no further than for a number of prominent and well-known Pittsburgh men to say, "we will have a new club." The membership of the club will not be restricted to any profession or avocation. It is the desire of the projectors that it shall be thoroughly representative of the social, professional, financial and commercial world of Pittsburgh.

With this in mind the projectors have gone no further in organizing the club. They now offer to Pittsburghers an opportunity to become charter members. The list of charter members may be closed at any time, and any membership may be withdrawn if found desirable. No names of applicants will be disclosed prior to the application for charter. The questions of membership fees, dues, etc., have not as yet been considered, but will be when the membership list is complete.

The rooms secured for the club are the entire top floor of the Frick building, and one half of the rooms on the 19th floor, about 16 of them. It is the intention to have a restaurant on the 19th floor. There will be a main dining-room capable of seating 135 at one time, beside pantrys, closets, etc. It is the intention to have the service unsurpassed, and the furnishing of the rooms will be without an equal in the city.

One of the conveniences will be the telephone service. It will be possible for a man to go to the club for luncheon or dinner and still be in constant touch with his office if necessary. A broker may leave the quotation board at the busiest time of day, and seat himself at the club spread, yet by the telephone at his elbow be kept informed of every movement of the market just as well as if at the ticker in his office.

The main floor will be of marble, and all of the wood work as well as the furniture will be of Circassian walnut, one of the most expensive as well as one of the richest woods. The color scheme is Pompeiian red. The reception-room will be of white mahogany. The rug for this room, which is being woven to order, will probably be the largest, as well as one of the handsomest in Pittsburgh. All of the furniture will be of special designs.

The billiard-room will be finished in old Irish bog oak. There will also be writing-rooms and a library. Those who wish to can step out on the terrace floor and be in the open air for a smoke. A magnificent view of Pittsburgh can be had from this terrace.

The Union club will be provided with everything to be found in any other club, except sleeping-rooms. Two of the many elevators in the building are express elevators, and do not stop going up or down. They will run all night.

It is expected that when the application is made for a charter, that the list of membership of the Union club will compare very favorably with the older clubs, and on it will be seen the names of many of the leading business and professional men of the city.

News of the Rivers.

The towboat Clifton arrived from Bellaire with Captain James K. Gilmore as pilot.

The ferry boat Neptune, owned by Frank D. Tumbelty, was the only boat inspected by Captain I. B. Williams yesterday.

The Monongahela River Consolidated Coal & Coke Company dispatched the towboat Jim Wood, with 12 boats and seven barges yesterday.

A number of Pittsburgh men will build a new hotel at Donora. It will be managed by James A. Lyon, secretary of the Stewards Protective association.

William Burton, a river pilot, died in Livingston county, Ky., July 23. His home was in Paducah, Ky., where he left a widow, three daughters and two sons.

The Gulf and Mississippi Transportation Company of New Orleans has asked Edward Howard for bids on three model barges. The company, which is new, began business with one towboat and three barges and will be reparied here. No arrivals or departures of towboats. Packets are in and out on time.

The funeral of the late Captain B. D. Wood will be held from the West End Methodist Episcopal church today. The services will be conducted by the Rev. G. W. Peregoy, the pastor, and the Rev. C. E. Locke of Buffalo.

The Elizabeth will make a special trip to Brunot's Island this afternoon for the benefit of those who want to attend the races. She will leave the wharf at 1 o'clock and return in time for her regular trip to Morgantown at 3 o'clock.

The Virginia will take out the biggest load of passengers of the season this afternoon, when she leaves for Cincinnati. The round trips to points down the river are being very popular methods of spending a vacation this summer, and all the lines are profiting by the high water which enables them to make good time and accommodate the crowds of pleasure seekers.

NEXT YEAR MAY GET THE BANNER IN STEEL TRADE

Capacity of Mills Contracted in Advance, May Shut Out Transient.

HIGHER PRICES CERTAIN

This Applies, of Course, to Products Ordered for Prompt Delivery—A British Estimate of American Ingenuity in the Trade.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, July 25.—Manufacturers are of the opinion that still higher prices will be seen for iron and steel. This applies to material for prompt delivery, a greater part of the output of the mills and furnaces having been sold months ahead at prices already agreed upon.

The business on the books of iron and steel companies is now larger than at any time since the first of the year, and there is nothing in sight to warrant the belief that the demand will subside in the near future. It is the enormous tonnage placed for future delivery that leads manufacturers to believe that there will be a famine in iron and steel, so far as that available for immediate delivery is concerned. An official of one of the largest steel mills volunteered the statement that the orders on the books of his company represent steady work for 12 months.

"The mills," said he, "will be taxed to their utmost to make deliveries according to contract, from which it is evident that we will not be in a position to accommodate buyers who ask for prompt delivery. I am convinced that next year will be the banner year in the iron and steel industry, and I should advise consumers to cover their wants now. With the large amount of business already booked, lower prices for iron for future delivery cannot be expected."

The Price of Bar Iron.

A representative of the Republic Iron and Steel Company today said the minimum price quoted for bar iron in Pittsburgh was $1 80 a hundred pounds. This is equivalent to $1 95 New York. Orders are coming in as freely as ever, and no effort is being made by sales agents to secure new business. The Tennessee Coal and Iron Company reports that orders for iron calling for delivery in 1903 are coming in rapidly. The Tennessee Coal and Iron Company has fixed upon a basis of $17 a ton (Birmingham) for pig iron calling for delivery in 1903.

British View of Yankee Ingenuity.

The British iron trade commission gives details of mineral resources of the United States as affecting the fundamental industry, the manufacture of iron and steel. They show the extraordinary richness of the principal fields of coal, iron ores and kindred minerals, and demonstrate by concrete examples how the natural inventiveness of the American has enabled him to apply to the operations of production and distribution a wealth of original ideas and methods that are as yet little known in Europe. It is also made manifest how on land, on lake, on river and on canal, the American people have applied their minds to the solution of the conditions and problems of cheap transportation until they have at last attained a level of rates and charges such as the British hardly have had any experience of.

Gates Campaign for Colorado.

Harris, Gates & Co., appear confident that the next meeting of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company will witness the ousting of the present management. They are hard at work making a copy of the transfer books. A circular will be sent to stockholders explaining the policy of the Gates party.

Rock Island Capitalization.

Official information was obtained today in regard to the proposed reorganization of the capitalization of Rock Island. It appears that the statement that each share of the stock of Rock Island will be exchanged for $200 in bonds is in part incorrect. This plan was at first considered, but afterward rejected. The plan which now has been definitely decided on, and which will be announced to the stockholders next week, is as follows:

An entirely new company will be formed to take over the Rock Island railroad and the smaller railroads which were acquired through purchase or lease during the last 12 months. For each share of the stock of Rock Island, par value $100, this new company will give $100 in 4 per cent bonds, $75 in new preferred and $100 in new common stock. On the basis of the exchange the capital of Rock Island will be $75,000,000 in 4 per cent collateral trust bonds, $56,250,000 in 4 per cent preferred stock and $75,000,000 in common stock. This makes a total of $206,250,000, which will be exchanged for the present $75,000,000 of capital stock of Rock Island.

Forecast of Bank Statement.

Notwithstanding exports of something like $2,700,000 in gold, the banks during the week ended yesterday appear to have gained between $1,500,000 and $2,000,000 cash. This favorable showing was due largely to the excess receipts of the banks in their operations with the interior. From that source they appear to have gained more than $3,000,000. Dow, Jones & Co. figure that the total gain from the interior and new gold was $4,755,500; the total loss by gold exports and to the subtreasury, was $2,017,200, so that the net gain on all account was $1,838,300. The receipts of currency were principally from the west and south. Money continues to come in freely from the interior, and it is not likely that the tide will turn until the latter part of next month.

NEWS FROM THE MINES

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, July 25.—Experts employed by Pittsburgh capitalists report favorably on a discovery on Sheep creek, in Wyoming, near the Utah line. It is an immense ledge of low-grade ore, which can be traced for several miles and is believed to be an extension of the famous lode of the Uintah reservation. Assays run from $12 to $18 a ton. Very little development work has been done, but hundreds of locations are reported. The country rock is quartzite and sandstone, and opinions differ as to whether the vein is a contact or entirely in the quartzite. One of the walls is rose quartz, and the other a seam of slate which carries as much gold as the vein matter.

Officials of the White Knob Company have returned to Mackay, Ida., to resume work on a conservative scale.

Work on the late strike in the Chainman, at White Pine, Nev., has shown a big ledge of ore ranging in value, according to camp assays, from $200 to $300 a ton.

Great excitement is reported at Sodaville and Tonopah, Nev., over the discovery of two large ledges 20 miles north of Crow Springs which carry gold and ruby silver assaying from $200 to $2,000 a ton. The finder was Louis K. Mann, a Tonopah assayer.

A dispatch from Wallace, Ida., says Charles Sweeney and associates have bought the controlling interest in the Wyoming and Black Hawk for $225,000.

Yellow copper and peacock iron is being mined on the 400-foot level of the Ingalls at Central City, Col.

Ore from the M. M. mine, up Ute creek, near Idaho Springs, Col., sampled by the Chamberlain sampler, gave values of $118 in gold, silver and lead for the first-class and $35 80 for the second-class.

The Metal Market.

All metal markets were dull and lacking in feature today. Particularly was this so in the case of copper, which ruled flat in the local market and with declining tendencies noted. Standard, spot to August, closed at $11 35@11 40; lake, $11 85@11 95; electrolytic, $11 75@11 90; casting, $11 65@11 75. The English market improved slightly, both spot and futures gaining 1s 3d. Spot closed at £52 11s 3d, and futures at £52 15s. London tin eased off 5s today in spite of the sharp break yesterday, closing with spot at £126 15s and futures at £124 10s. The local market steadied up somewhat, though still ruling extremely dull; spot closed at $28 05@28 40. The foreign price of lead declined 1s 3d to £13 2s 6d, while at home there was no change from 4¼c. Spelter was quiet and firm at New York and unchanged. London spelter was lowered 2s 6d to £18 17s 6d. English iron prices declined. Glasgow warrants closed at 50s 6d; Middlesbro, 51s 3d. The New York market closed quiet and steady without change. Warrants nominal. No. 1 foundry, northern, $23 00@25 00; No. 2 foundry, northern, $22 00@23 00; No. 1 foundry, southern, $22 00@23 00; No. 1 foundry, southern, soft, $22 00@25 00.

Prices Move Violently in Wall Street

DEALINGS HEAVY IN THE HIGHEST CLASS OF STOCKS

Rumors of Big Railroad Combinations Most Potent Factor in the Market.

REPORTS SLIGHTLY VAGUE

All Parts of the Country Traversed in Movement of Standard Securities—Flurry in Western Union With Two Points Lost.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, July 25.—Violent price movements and very heavy dealings in some of the prominent high-priced stocks were the characteristics of today's stock market. There was large realizing at intervals, both in the stocks which were moved upward today and in others which had previously advanced. The industrials and the low-priced railroad stocks played only a small part in the market, the high-priced standard stocks traversing all portions of the country being in the van of all the day's movements. The grangers, the Pacifics, the southern trunk lines and the eastern trunk lines all had their turn in the day's activities. The bulls had the advantage of continuing satisfactory conditions of the crops, of industrial activity and of the money market, but the effective factors in the day's trading were rumors of great financial operations looking to the harmonizing and consolidating of control of the great railroad systems of the country.

Vague and Undefined.

All of these were more or less vague and none of them was accorded open or official sanction. That regarding Rock Island was the most clearly defined, and it was noticeable that that stock, with something like explicit information to go upon, fell out of the forefront of the trading and failed to maintain all of yesterday's advance. There was authoritative intimation, also, that another large railroad system is to be absorbed, the prevailing belief pointing to St. Louis & San Francisco. Assertions that Atchison was to be taken over were effectively denied. Rumors continued thick concerning St. Paul, the one assigning it to Union Pacific being most persistent, but without any authentic countenance. The southern trunk line consolidation story and the eastern trunk line readjustment story also did effective service in the stock market without receiving any informal authorization. Even the supposed hostility between the Pennsylvania and the Goulds was made to do service by the bulls on the theory that the defeat of the Pennsylvania Hudson river tunnel contract was due to Gould influence, and, therefore, a bull card for that group of securities, while it was alleged that the Pennsylvania interests were buying to control Atchison with a view to a transcontinental system in retaliation for the Gould incursion into Pennsylvania territory.

Raid on Western Union.

An incident of the day was the fierce raid on Western Union, which forced it down over three points by half-point drops. The stock closed at a rally of a point. There is promise of a gain in cash reserves of over $1,000,000 by the banks tomorrow in spite of the week's exports of gold, the receipts on balance from the interior and the excess of disbursements by the sub-treasury having more than offset the exports. The item of loans, however, is beyond power of computation. The market closed very irregular, but with a few stocks at the top.

Bonds were somewhat firmer today. Total sales, par value, $22,915,000. United States new 4s, registered, advanced ¼ per cent on the last call.

WALL STREET FEATURES.

Total sales for the day 961,800 shares.

New York Central sales reach 77,300, the largest of the day.

Pennsylvania makes a good gain and sales reach 59,650.

Talk of railroad combination has a strengthening effect on all that class of stocks.

Raid on Western Union drives that stock down 3 points, with a 1 point rally. Sales 16,300.

A gain of $1,000,000 in the bank reserves is expected today.

Bonds are somewhat firmer.

Talked About in Wall Street

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, July 26.—The New York Herald this (Saturday) morning says: Under a continuation of the now familiar pool and clique plan of operation, activity was maintained in the stock market yesterday and active issues were advanced. No change was noted in the character of the trading, which was marked by an almost total absence of public interest. Business was very poorly distributed. Ten properties contributed about two-thirds of the total dealings, leaving very scanty totals for the remaining 115 or so in which there were dealings. So far as the pool and clique operators were concerned, the prevailing sentiment was bullish, while commission houses generally urged extreme caution.

Practically the sole news of the day was contained in the semi-official announcement of the capital readjustment plan of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific railroad. The plan scarcely commends itself to conservative financiers, changing as it does a contingent payment on $75,000,000 capital stock, swollen from $50,000,000 within a year, and inflated by manipulation to an excessive price, into a fixed charge of $3,000,000 annually on a collateral trust bond. The unification of the system under the plunging promoters who now control it is not regarded as unfavorable; but the bringing out of $75,000,000 common stock $56,250,000 4 per cent preferred stock and $75,000,000 of 4 per cent bonds, a capitalization of $206,250,000 against $75,000,000 of Rock Island stock is like coining a vacuum.

The Rock Island capital readjustment plan gave investors something of a chill, probably due to the fact that the interests active in working out the remarkable stock-watering enterprise are the present market leaders and are those credited with undertaking the acquisition of Chicago & Northwestern and several other properties.

London prices came lower and foreigners sold on balances to the extent of about 30,000 shares. The opening was irregular, but the western contingent accepted offerings readily and prices hardened all along the line, and there was little evidence of the nervousness which characterized the closing on Thursday. Despite the sustained activity, there was no evidence that the latest developments in high finance had encouraged the public, and the movements for the day were conducted almost entirely among the professional element, who shifted them actively and rapidly from one group to another.

NEW CUMBERLAND, W. VA., July 25.—The premature explosion of a shot in the clay mine at Black Hawk works just below here this afternoon instantly killed John Carnahan, aged 46, and Thomas Sheets, aged 30, both men with families. Their bodies were blown to pieces.

The Treasury and the Banks.

NEW YORK, July 25.—(Special.)—In redemption of checks drawn by depositors of gold at the San Francisco and Seattle assay offices, today's official records show that the subtreasury paid out yesterday $79,002, of this amount $65,000 having been deposited at San Francisco, and $14,002 at Seattle. Total thus paid since last Friday, $744,157, against $1,443,309 for the same period a week ago. Total payment by government to New York banks for the day, $3,328,000; payment by banks to government, $2,041,000; balance on the day's transactions, $887,000, paid by government to banks; payment by banks, however, includes $1,748,778 paid against assay office gold for export. Total net payment by banks to government since Friday, $1,355,000, against $1,522,000, paid by government to banks for the corresponding period a week ago.

SUGAR COUNTRY THAT BEATS LOUISIANA

Pittsburghers Interested in Property That Produces Much More Than Southern Plantations.

The wonderful development of Mexico, in which many Pittsburghers have become interested, has attracted another party of local capitalists, who have recently purchased a large tract of fine sugar land in the state of Oaxaca. The company is known as the Planters' Development & Manufacturing Company of Pittsburgh and Mexico, and its interests in Mexico are represented by Dr. Morgan J. C. Saupp of Forbes and Halket streets, Oakland.

Dr. Saupp, who is now in Mexico, has recently purchased for the company a large tract of land adjoining the property of Alfred B. Mason, president of the Vera Cruz & Pacific railroad. Dr. Saupp has reported that the property is many times superior for the raising of sugar cane to that of Louisiana. Dr. Saupp says that his company is preparing to develop the property at once with buildings for the manufacture of sugar and all kinds of high-class liquors.

The profits of planters in Mexico as compared to those of Louisiana, the doctor claims, are from two to three times greater in the former country. In Louisiana, where an acre will yield from 15 to 20 tons of sugar cane, Dr. Saupp says the same amount of land in Mexico will yield 50 to 60 tons. Besides, the Mexican planter's cane is never cut until ripe. In Louisiana the cane is cut and ground before maturity, and it only lasts from two to three years without replanting. In Mexico the cane will last from six to 15 years, according to the quality of the land.

Dun's Weekly Review of Trade

FUEL SCARCITY WORST FEATURE OF WEEK'S TRADE

Outside of Coal Strike and Lack of Transportation, No Cloud Appears.

RAILWAY ORDERS GOOD

All Lines of Finished Steel in Firm Condition—General Business Is Excellent — Showing of Dun's Weekly Review of Trade.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, July 25.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade tomorrow will say:

Each day brings the agricultural products of the nation nearer maturity, and as the possibility of any serious injury becomes smaller, the feeling of confidence in fully sustained trade grows stronger. Storms destroyed much property in some sections, and the prompt restoration of structures has added to the activity of building trades. Railway stocks rose to new high record quotations and gold was exported, yet money ruled easy, July oats succeeded corn as the leading speculative cereal, but all distant grain options tended lower as the outlook improved. The heavy distribution of merchandise is shown by railway earnings, thus far reported for July 25 per cent larger than last year and 20.0 per cent in excess of the corresponding period of 1900.

Insufficient fuel is the one serious difficulty in the iron and steel industry, interruptions and delays from this cause becoming more noticeable each day. Supplies of coal are curtailed by the strike, although coke ovens are making new records of production. Shipments are retarded by the car and motive power shortage. In a market where there is comparative dullness because deliveries cannot be made promptly the outlook for long continued activity seems favorable, especially as scarcity of fuel cannot continue a factor indefinitely. All forms of pig iron have sold far ahead and there is no evidence of overproduction in the near future at least. Billets are still somewhat unsettled by heavy importations, yet domestic prices are steady and further foreign arrivals are expected.

A new week has brought out more liberal orders for railway supplies and the structural mills have taken contracts dating still further into next year. Makers of agricultural machinery and tools grow more confident as the season advances, and all lines of finished steel are in an exceptionally firm condition.

Footwear factories have returned to almost full operation, contracts coming forward freely from wholesalers at the large cities. Aside from moderate buying for Red sea ports there has been little trade in the export division of the cotton goods market. Domestic purchases are confined to immediate requirements as a rule, the finer grades alone being ordered in advance.

Failures for the week numbered 208 in the United States, against 198 last year, and 17 in Canada, against 28 last year.

BANK CLEARINGS.

NEW YORK, July 25.—The following table, compiled by Bradstreet, shows the bank clearings at the principal cities for the week ended July 24, and the percentages of increase and decrease as compared with the corresponding week last year:

| CITIES. | Amount. | Per Ct. Inc. | Per Ct. Dec. |
|---|---|---|---|

Stocks Were Quite Active and Prices Generally Showed Advances

FIRE PROOFING LED THE SALES AT AN ADVANCE

Pittsburgh Coal Common Was Marked Up to 27, but Lost a Fraction.

BREWING ISSUES HIGHER

Crucible Steels Were Firmer, but U. S. Steel Common Was Easier. Window Glass Was Very Dull—Ice Shares Advanced—Bonds Firm.

The market on the Pittsburgh stock exchange yesterday was quite active—the most active, in fact, in some time, the sales being over 6,400 shares and $17,000 bonds, distributed among 15 different securities. Generally the tone was quite firm and the closing prices, as a rule, showed fractional advances, though several were at reactions from the highest points. Fire proofing common led the business of the day with nearly 2,100 shares and was in quite good demand. The price opened at 32 and quickly advanced to 32¼, but closed at 32⅛, a gain of only ⅛ for the day. The preferred was very dull and only 10 shares changed hands; the price, 59½, being a loss of ¼. The advance in the common is undoubtedly due to a belief that the company's earnings will justify an increase in the next quarterly dividend which should be declared soon, and possibly an extra dividend also. Still, the gossips who talk this way have been fooled so often before on "inside tips" that they are a little chary about giving utterance to their "confidential" information now. Another bull card on the stock is its connection with the Fuller Construction Company and the possible results of the latter's big real estate and trust company mergers in New York. The bulls insist that the stock is good for 40, and that it will not likely ever go below that price after it is attained again.

Another feature of the market was Pittsburgh Coal common, which sold 1,200 shares at 26¾@27, the highest prices in months. The close was at 26¾, which gave the day a gain of ⅛. The preferred sold a small lot at 90½, a gain of ¼. River Coal common did not sell and was quoted unchanged at 12¼@12½. Three hundred and fifty shares of the preferred sold at 35⅜, an advance of ⅛ over the previous sale. There are some who attribute the business in these issues, particularly Pittsburgh Coal, to the practical invasion of the striking anthracite miners to flood their district with soft coal. This would undoubtedly increase the output of the company and doubtless its profits, but is the argument good? Are big earnings any reason for the advance in an industrial stock now-a-days? They certainly used to be. But the United States Steels, Crucible Steels, and Steel Car issues have failed to respond to remarkable showings and estimates. Everybody knows the Pittsburgh Brewing Company has been making big money, but no one claims the stock advances on that account. And so with other industrials. There is a growing conviction that the industrial securities will not have much of a movement until the United States Steel Corporation's issues become more active and advance. It may be due to a latent desire to see how the big concern will "pull through." Things that ordinarily would have wildly bulled industrial stocks, now have no effect—or scarcely any. Take Consolidated Ice common, for instance. Semi-official statements said the company made money from its organization, and there are those who believe its suspension of dividends on the common stock was but a "play," and that the dividend has ever since been more than earned. Yet the company now enters into an arrangement for the sale of all its product—saves the entire expense of delivery, and, according to report, will largely benefit by the increase of the price of its output from $1.50 to $2.00 per ton. Yet, the stock advanced only 50 cents a share yesterday. Such a report a year ago would have sent the price up several points. And so it goes almost throughout the industrial list. Undoubtedly, the declaration of dividends, is what the public want, for they help in the carrying charges and make the "gamble" something of an investment. Latterly, the lambs seem a little shy on the "pure gambles," and so keep out of the market. Brewing issues were strong yesterday and the common was quite active, advancing to 29, the highest price in months. The preferred also went up to 47⅞ and closed at that figure, though offers occurred later at 47½. The war tax repeal is now being used as a bull argument, yet it has been known for months and had no effect. Crucible Steels were firm and fractionally higher.

It is semi-officially stated that the common will be put on a dividend basis shortly. United States Steel common was dull and easier, while the preferred was firm, unchanged and fairly active. Window Glass was very dull and fractionally lower. T he banking group was almost ignored, but was steady. Electric seconds firmed up and closed ⅜ higher at 104¾. Philadelphia Company issues were also a shade firmer. Bonds were fairly active and firm.

River Coal preferred advanced to 39¾.

Bonds were more active and firm.

FINANCIAL DRIFT.

The trading in the steel stocks was well scattered on both sides of the market.

The first sale of the day was 65 Brewing common at 28½ and 39 of the same at 28⅝.

Hill & Co. were the principal buyers of Pittsburgh Brewing preferred, while Barbour was a large seller; Hill sold the preferred and Preston, Watt & Schoyer bought.

Near the close there was a sale of 53 Lehigh Valley railroad at 54, W. A. McCutcheon being the seller. This was the first sale ever made on the local exchange in the stock.

Sproul Co. continue to "pick up" Commonwealth Real Estate & Trust Company and Hill & Co. Fidelity National bank. They almost have a monopoly of the business.

Two million dollars of city of Philadelphia 3½ per cent bonds which were awarded Thursday on a 3.23 per cent basis were marketed in Philadelphia yesterday on a 3.17 per cent basis.

The heaviest trading of the day was in Fire Proofing common and it was most active at the opening. Schoyer, Speer and Sproul were the principal sellers. Pink got 900, being the largest buyer.

The buying in Wall street of Tennessee Coal & Iron yesterday was the same as has been in evidence for some time past. It is done through Contzen and is said to be for Pittsburgh interests.

Hill was the principal buyer of Pittsburgh Coal common. The selling was scattered, though Sproul & Co. "let go" of several hundred shares. They have until Thursday been the heaviest sellers.

I think we will have a good bank statement regardless of contrary predictions, because the people who are lending their aid to this market are in a position to make the statement any kind they want to.—Wall street broker.

The Diamond Savings bank is the title of a new institution being organized by interests connected with the Diamond National bank. It will occupy quarters adjoining the latter, and will have a capital of $100,000 and surplus of $100,000.

The known movements of money this week show a net gain by the banks of a little more than $1,000,000. Much of the money from the interior, however, came so late that it may not average so as to make the gain show fully in today's statement.

Westinghouse sold a block of 200 Ice preferred at 88½ to Marlin; this is the largest single trade in that stock in months.

Holmes & Sons bought $1,000 Penn Street Railway 5s from Robinson & Orr at 110½; sales of over $5,000 have been made at this; it has been made November 12, 1901, when the price was 110¼ and interest. The issue is $250,000 maturing in 1922. Interest is payable in June and December.

Until just before the close there had not been a trade in Window Glass common, and it looked as if the day would be a whitewash for the stock. At the last moment, however, Hill sold Schoyer 100 shares at 39⅝, and the listing of the preferred was by Miller, who disposed of 35 shares at 93½, the last price.

One of the chief news items of the day was the publication of the conditions of the trust company organized under the laws of New York. The totals show the enormous resources of over $1,000,000,000. This, however, is accompanied by an increase of deposit liability of $700,000,000, and the ratio of cash to all and against this aggregate they hold only $114,000,000 cash reserve, or only 15 per cent. Their loans expanded during the year somewhat more than $300,000,000, while the banks of New York banks were only about $15,000,000 greater than same time last year. This in the first place shows that the trust companies are doing business on very safe lines—so long as the banks are sailing smooth this is all right. But should a squall strike them it would mean that the trust companies would have to strengthen their reserve by calling in loans and as a result there would probably follow a like policy it would mean that securities to a large amount would have to be sacrificed. In the second place it indicates that syndicates are still in control of undistributed securities created during the past year or so, and that the reductions of loans on the part of New York banks during the past six months has been largely due to the sale of securities of, and absorption of, securities, but merely shifting of the business done from banks to trust companies.

Unrecorded Quotations.

Franklin Steel Casting was quoted at 65 bid.

Marlin offered 100 Trade Dollar Mining at $1.50 per share.

Coffee and Sugar.

NEW YORK, July 25.—Coffee futures opened steady, with prices unchanged, and during the day in a small way, followed an irregular course, at one time being 5 points net higher than the latest lowering, then improvement and easing off 5 points further before the close. Early influences were of a mixed character. European markets were better than expected on our close of the previous day, but weekly advices from Brazil rodected bearish market conditions and heavy primary receipts at both port and interior towns. Early in the session shorts were the principal buyers, manifesting fear of further manipulation by the clique. Europe was an early buyer also, in the afternoon heavy selling by spot interests and realizing wiped out the advance, the market closing steady and not unchanged to 5 points lower. Sales amounted to 78,500 bags, including July, 5.30@5.35c; August, 5.25@5.35c; September, 5.20@5.30c; October, 5.15@5.20c; November, 5.10@5.20c; December, 5.20@5.30c; January, 5.25c; March, 5.30@5.40c; May, 5.40@5.45c and June, 5.45c. Sugar, raw, firm; fair refining, 3½c; centrifugal, 96 test, 3⅝c; molasses sugar, 2⅝c; refined firm.

Turpentine and Rosin.

Drygoods Market.

NEW YORK, July 25.—Drygoods—The market today has ruled quiet in all departments, the demand being largely up to the average of previous days of the week. The general tone is dull and the best sellers can do is to hold prices steady in most departments of goods handled. Print cloths were inactive at previous prices. Linen ruled quiet and unchanged. Burlaps are dull and slightly lower than last week.

Hay Scarce at Firm Prices—Oats Advance

PITTSBURGH PRICES FOR FARM PRODUCTS

California Peaches Plentiful and Lower—Fruits and Produce Steady.

Hay, Grain and Feed.

It is stated by those who have watched the hay and grain situation for half a century, that the present is the most peculiar season since 1855, when conditions were largely the same as to rain, as they are now. So few days pass without any rain that farmers are afraid to cut hay, knowing it will have no chance to dry. As a result new hay is not getting to market as would be the case under more favorable weather conditions. There is some corn expressed that crops will be seriously and irreparably injured. Oats will suffer, too, if there is not a change in the weather. All sorts of quotations are heard of in the local market, but the range of prices seems to be about the same as quoted yesterday, except for a fractional advance in oats.

Receipts bulletined: Pennsylvania lines, 25 cars hay, 2 cars corn, 1 car corn and oats, 1 car straw, 9 cars oats, 1 car rye and oats, 1 car feed; Baltimore & Ohio railroad, 3 cars hay, 1 car corn; Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad, 2 cars hay; Pittsburgh & Western railroad, 1 car hay; total receipts, 47 cars.

Following are the official quotations for hay, millfeed, corn, oats and straw, corrected by the superintendent of the Pittsburgh grain exchange:

Straw—Oat, $7 00@7 50; wheat, $7 00@7 50; rye, $8 00@8 25.

Hay—No. 1 timothy, $18 00@19 00; No. 2 do, $16 50@17 50; No. 1 mixed, $12 00@13 00; No. 1 clover, $12 00@13 00; prairie, $9 00@10 00; packing, $8 50@9 00; loose from wagon, $11 00@18 00.

Rye—Milling price (delivered), No. 2 Michigan 65½@66½c.

Wheat—No. 2 red winter, 74@75c f. o. b. cars within radius of 50 miles of Pittsburgh.

Corn—No. 2 yellow, shelled, 72@73c; high mixed, 71@72c; No. 2 mixed, 70@71c; No. 2 yellow car, 70@71c; high mixed, 75@76c; No. 2 mixed, 74@75c.

Oats—No. 2 white, 64@65c; extra No. 3, 63@64c; regular, 62@63c.

Millfeed—White middlings per ton., No. 2, $23 00@23 50; brown, $22 00@22 50; bran, $19 50@20 00.

Groceries.

There was no change of any kind in prices yesterday, quotations all holding steady. Wheat was perhaps a little easier, and flour was allowed to remain as it has been all week. Sugar and coffee are without special feature, with quotations same as last quoted.

Flour—Jobbers' prices: Fancy spring patents, $4 15@4 25; fancy winter patents, $3 90@4 00; straight winter, $3 80@3 90; bakers' spring, $3 00@3 60; rye, $3 45@3 60; graham, $4 00@4 10; oatmeal, bbl, $3 50@3 60; 10-lb cotton bags, 19@20c.

QUESTION OF A PARTY WALL NOW SETTLED

Farmers Bank Will Build Its Own Wall Next to Mellor's Block.

EAST END HOUSE BOUGHT

Wood Street Sale of Over $100,000 Reported Made — McKeesport Business Property Moving Rapidly—Rumors in Penn Avenue.

An agreement was signed yesterday between the Farmers Deposit National bank and the C. C. Mellor Company in reference to the proposed party wall between their properties in Fifth avenue. Attorney E. S. Hartje conducted the negotiations. By the terms of the agreement each party will maintain and build on its own wall.

Several weeks ago the bank officials proposed that a party wall should be erected. This the Mellor Company would not agree to and brought injunction proceedings against the bank to prevent the latter from damaging its property. Because of this suit the work on that part of the skyscraper which is to cover the former Keenan lot was suspended.

Now that the matter is settled the building will proceed as rapidly as possible. The Mellor wall extends only 15 feet below the surface, but the bank wall will have its foundation 36 feet below. This will put the bank under the necessity of "shoreing up" the Mellor wall below its foundation, and in case of any damage to the Mellor wall or building the bank will be liable by law for damages.

In connection with the wall question, a member of the firm of C. C. Mellor & Co. stated last night that there was no deal on with the bank for their property and that it would not be sold.

East End House Bought.

The William Peebles property, in Richland lane, Twenty-second ward, has been sold to M. K. Salsbury for about $38,000. The property is at the corner of Juniata street, near Penn avenue, and has a frontage of 75 feet with a depth of 200 feet. The residence is a modern stone house, containing 15 rooms. Some time ago it was reported that Joseph B. Shea had purchased the property, but it appears that Mr. Salsbury was the buyer.

It was reported yesterday that articles of agreement had been signed in the sale of a Wood street property valued at between $100,000 and $125,000. The property in question is said to be near Fourth avenue and the deal is credited to the Commonwealth Real Estate and Trust Company. Beyond admitting that a deal of this kind was on, and would likely be closed, if it had not already been signed, within a few days, the members of this firm declined to discuss the matter. Rumor has it that the sale will be followed closely by a big building project.

The Pennsylvania Trust Company, trustee of the Kane-Maloney Iron and Steel Company, has sold to George Bingham the property at the north corner of Fifty-seventh and Harrison streets, Eighteenth ward, for $12,500. The lot is 132x160 feet and is improved with a number of buildings.

Boom on In McKeesport.

The real estate market in McKeesport continues brisk and there is no sign of the boom abating. Four sales, amounting to $122,000, have been closed within a few days. The William D. Wood property, in Fifth avenue, was purchased by a Pittsburgh business man for $50,000. The lot measures 250x80 feet. Another Fifth avenue property, formerly owned by William Dunshee, has been sold to a local investor for $40,000. The lot measures 46x150 feet and has erected thereon a three-story brick building.

William Cyphers is the purchaser of the Mrs. Rummelfinger property, also in Fifth avenue, which brought $20,000. This lot has a frontage of 240 feet by a depth of 120 feet. The fourth property, consisting of a lot 30x140 feet, improved with a three-story brick building, is situated in Market street, between Third and Fourth avenues, and brought $12,000. It is known as the Odd Fellows hall and was conveyed, it is said, to a merchant who will use it for store purposes. Nearly every owner in Fifth avenue has been approached repeatedly for options on his property at prices away in advance of what it would have brought six months ago. Good residence properties are also in good demand and in the suburbs the new lot plans are likely to have a very rapid sale.

Two Penn Avenue Rumors.

The reported sale of the property at No. 626 Penn avenue for $80,000 could not be confirmed last night. The lot is 20x111 feet and is said to have been purchased by parties who have recently secured title to nearby lots. The sale of the Ahlers property, at No. 624 Penn avenue, which was also reported, was denied by the owner, who said that no deal had been closed. It is said that the intending purchasers have about concluded the deal for both properties and that the lots will be improved soon with a new building.

Architects George S. Orth & Bros. are preparing plans for a four-story store building, at Scottdale, Pa. The building will be 70x70 feet and will be owned by a local business man. The same architects have awarded the contract to Allen & Meals of Oil City for the erection of a Methodist Episcopal church at Parker, Pa. The building will cost $10,000. They have also awarded the contract for the addition to the residence and the stable of A. Leo Weil, in Howe street, to the G. L. Bollinger Construction Company.

A $50,000 Residence.

Architects Allison & Topp have awarded the contract to Charles Wright for the C. K. Hill residence, in Morewood avenue. The house is to be of brick and terra cotta and will cost $50,000. The same architects will close bids today on the plans for the Pressed Prism Plate Glass Company at Morgantown and on the three-story store and flat building known as the Brennen block at Coraopolis.

Architects Vrydraugh & Wolfe are preparing for a fine country hall house to be built at Ben Avon at a cost of $10,000, for A. Bion Boggs of the firm of Boggs & Buhl.

One of the most tasty residences in the East End is just being completed for Henry G. Morgan, the grain broker. The plans were drawn by Architects Milligan & Millar and the house is located at the corner of Braddock avenue and Tuscarawas street. Its walls are of Pompeian brick with stone trimmings, and the roof of tile. The house will contain 12 rooms and will cost $20,000.

Architect C. H. Craig has plans for a $5,000 frame residence for W. E. Winter, to be built in Perrysville avenue, Allegheny.

Allegheny Flats Sold.

Four Mile Run road: The Real Estate Trust Company sold for Alfred R. Neeb to Marshall H. Thomas a lot, 24x102 feet, in Four Mile Run road, Twenty-third ward, for $400.

Deal in Center Avenue.

Center avenue: Frank H. Langkamp sold to Samuel Tyler an improved lot, 22x76 feet, on the north side of Center avenue, near Erin street, Eleventh ward, for $4,000.

John Henning sold to an unnamed purchaser a lot, 30x91 feet, on the south side of Forbes street, near Brady street, for $7,000. The lot has a two-story frame store and dwelling in front and two frame houses in the rear.

Pittsburgh building permits were issued yesterday as follows: To John Harbaugh, brick and frame storage house and store in Homewood avenue, Twenty-first ward, $8,000; to J. J. Matthews, brick dwelling in Negley avenue, Nineteenth ward, $18,000; to William G. Brown, brick veneered three-story apartment house, Kelly street, Thirty-seventh ward, $10,000.

LITTLE HOPE FOR MRS. STEPHAN

Victim of Allegheny Shooting Is Still in Precarious Condition.

Dora Stephan of No. 11 Laroda street, Allegheny, who was shot by Robert Siebert at her home Thursday because she refused to have anything to do with him, is still in a precarious condition. Her physicians visited her home yesterday morning and after making an examination of her wounds said there was little hope for recovery. They probed for the bullet, but did not find it. It entered the right breast, penetrating the lung and then deflecting. The probe went into the wound seven inches.

Robert Siebert was committed to the Allegheny jail to await the result of his victim's injuries. Information was made against him by Superintendent Henry Muth before Magistrate Henry Hunneshagen. Siebert spent a terrible night. He was on the verge of delirium tremens.

Dr. Booth Interested.

Annie Baldauf, the young woman who was rescued from a South Side mob on Thursday night by Sergt. Murray Lewis, and was thought to be suffering from smallpox, called yesterday at the public safety building in Sixth street. She told Dr. B. A. Booth, city physician, that her name was Kate Weiss. Dr. Booth pronounced her ailment measles and said he would endeavor to have her placed in a home until she recovers. Dr. Booth said the girl has been subjected to so many hardships and exposure during her illness that her mind is slightly unbalanced.

there is hope

in Munyon's witch hazel soap.

Our Price: 8c cake, 2 cakes for 15c

Regular price 15c cake.

It is gratifying to be one of the first to introduce a really meritorious article, but still our store is noted for being the first to secure the best of everything. We were fortunate in getting hold of a lot of Munyon's Witch Hazel Soap which we are selling at about half price. This soap is sold all over the country at 15 cents a cake; our price is 8 cents. You can pay 25, 50 and 75 cents a cake for soap and not get so good. Dr. Munyon says that every ingredient in this soap is pure enough to eat; that it is free from all animal fats and alkalis; that it will positively improve any complexion and cure nearly every form of skin disease. The tremendous sale we are having on this soap shows that the public appreciate this new toilet requisite. Mothers find it just the soap for baby, as it cures hives, prickly heat and all forms of rash. It is said to be the best shampoo made. It quickly cures dandruff and most scalp diseases. It is largely used by gentlemen for shaving as it softens the beard and prevents all skin irritations.

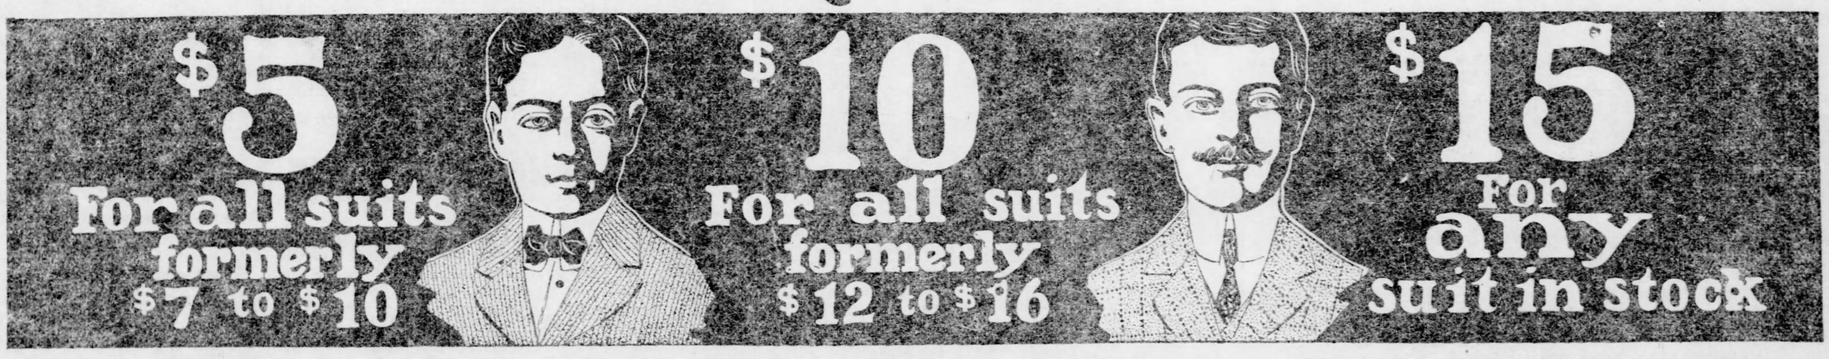
KAUFMANN'S "THE BIG STORE"

Any Boys' Suit In Stock

No matter what the marked price for..... $5

None reserved or excepted. Just go through our Entire Stock and pick out the very Finest Short Pants Suit for only $5. When you consider that we have always made a specialty of the Finer and Finest Grades of Boys' Clothing ranging from $7.50 to $15, you will appreciate what this offer means.

Entire Stock Divided Into 3 Parts:



This sale, like an avalanche, gains in strength every day, but, as the purchasing increases, the Clothing piles decrease. Shrewd and saving men, therefore, will delay no longer, but come in at once—TODAY. Bear in mind, this sale has nothing in common with the so-called "Clearance Sales" of others. No exaggeration or mystery about it. Everything clear, straight and above board. That's why men who pay no attention to other "ads." READ THIS ONE. It makes them Pause, Ponder and Purchase.

Part "A" At $5:

This section includes all Men's Suits which, before this sale we sold for $7 and $10; in other words, just such suits as are retailed elsewhere at from $9 to $12. Here's an example: Splendid Blue Serge Suits, the most popular Suits worn; nice soft, cool and dressy, well tailored throughout—in both single and double-breasted styles.

Part "B" At $10:

This section includes all Men's Suits which, before this sale, we sold for $12, $13, $14, $15 and $16, and which are still sold for one-fourth above these prices elsewhere. Here's an example: Choicest Black Belgian Thibet Suits, same as tailors make to order, in newest single and double-breasted styles; hand tailored throughout; stiff, shape-retaining fronts, interlined with hair cloth; ultra-fashionable suits in every respect.

Part "C" At $15:

This section includes the finest Suits in stock—none reserved or excepted—Suits that have been selling all along for $20 and $30, and even still higher—finer Suits than you can find in most stores at any price, and as fine as are made to order by the crack merchant tailors of any city. Come right in and select any Suit in the house for just $15.

Outing Suits at $5, $7.50 & $10.

Not the regular $5, $7.50 and $10 Suits, but $7.50 Suits at $5—$10 Suits at $7.50—and $15 Suits at $10. What a rare opportunity to get one of those stylish and nobby Two-Piece Suits. Nothing cooler or more comfortable for the hot weather.

Any Pair of Men's Pants

In our Entire Stock, no matter what the marked price, for only $4.50. None reserved or excepted. Just go right through the entire stock and pick out the Finest Pair of Pants you can find and pay only..... $4.50
